WORD MAY FIND M'CORMICK BOY

It Is Written on a Piece of Scrap Paper.

HANDWRITING HIS SISTER'S

IT WAS DROPPED BY A POLISH GYPSY GIRL.

Detectives Believe That She or Members of Her Tribe Know Where Kidnaped Boy Now Is.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The word "Gertrude," scribbled on a piece of scratch pad paper, has given what is believed by the detectives of New York and Washington to be the first real clue in the kidnaping case of Willie McCormick, who disappeared from his home at High Bridge, New York City, on March 27. On the reverse side of the paper were some figures.

New York detectives report that the writing had been identified by Mis McCormick as hers, and that the piece of paper itself was taken from a pad which she used. The writing and the figuring were done on the night before Willie disappeared.

A piece of paper answering a somewhat similar description is believed to have been in the boy's pocket when he left home. Two gypsy girls, Hannah and Lizzie Michel, 16 and 14 years old, respectively, are under arrest in this city on suspicion of knowing about the crime. They belong to a tribe of Russian Polaks, who have been encamped near Washington for the last three weeks. The two girls have been telling fortunes about the streets of Washington ever since they have been in this vicinity. One day last week Hannah was in the photographic studio of M. Kets Kemethy and left behind her a sheet of paper on which was written the word "Gertrude." This sheet of paper was forwarded to New York and was positively identified as having been written by Gertrude McCormick, the sister of Willie McCormick.

There are branches of the tribe to which the girls belong in New Jersey, Broklyn and New York. The girl who left the piece of paper at the photographer's said she picked it up at Benzinger's Horse Bazaar, where her uncle has been trading in horses.

Detective O'Connell discovered, after questioning the girl, Hannah, very closely, that she came to Canada from Russia, three years ago, and first appeared in the United States at Portland, Me. She has been in New York at various times, it is said, and the detectives, after the closest kind of a cross-examination, think she was in New York about the time the McCormick boy was stolen.

Captain of Detectives Titus held a conversation over the long-distance telephone today with Detective McConnville of the New York central office, who is in Washington following what is thought to be the most important clew in regard to the missing William McCormick of High Bridge that has yet been unearthed.

Capt. Titus said that the signature "Gertrude" found on the slip of paper that had been left at the photographer's by the two gypsy girls arrested there yesterday had been compared with the signatures of Gertrude McCormick, the missing boy's sister, and that the two are almost identical. Capt. Titus said he attached great significance to this clew and now had hopes of finding the boy.

REBEL IN BOYVILLE

GEORGE STOCKAMP AND HIS LITTLE BROTHER DEFY DICTATOR.

EDDIE LEUTHER STABBED

Trouble Caused by Lighting a Match During a Game of "Lay Low"—A Victor Street Feud.

George Stockamp of 2119 Victor street, a 13-year-old boy, stabbed Eddie Leuther, his playmate, 15 years old, three times Friday night.

Eddie was taken to his home, 2152 Victor street, and his boy assailant was locked up at the Wyoming street station. The Leuther boy is not dangerously hurt.

The fight was caused by George Stockamp lighting a match during a game of "lay low."

Eddie, who is credited with being a dictator in the Boyville of his neighborhood, had prescribed a "good licking" for this violation of the ethics of the game.

George, who is captain of the Little Trilbies, the crack juvenile baseball team of Victor street, broke the rule. He struck a match and discovered a boy belonging to Eddie's "side" lurking in a dark corner back of 2119 Victor street.

Eddie saw the act and started to correct George. The latter's brother, Willie, who was innocent of match-lighting, encountered Eddie first. Willie's nose was badly damaged.

George then jumped forward to protect his brother. In his hand he held a knife that had cost him 5 cents at the corner store a week ago. Eddie was not frightened. He closed in and received three knife-thrusts.

Then George became frightened and ran away and Eddie ran into the yard of Mrs. Julia Stockamp, George's mother, crying that he was stabbed. Mrs. Stockamp sent him home.

George Stockamp did not return home until 3 o'clock Saturday morning, when he was arrested and taken to the Wyoming street station.

He is a stout, stocky little boy, barely 3 feet high. Saturday he fought back tears and talked of his deed.

"I'm sorry, but I couldn't help it," said the boy. Eddie is a bully. He is big and a 'scrapper.' I wasn't going to mind him last night about striking matches, for I'm captain of the Little Trilbies.

"So I just struck a match an' waited. He runs up an' when he hits my little brother I got so mad I couldn't see. I guess I cut him then."

Mrs. Leuther says if her boy gets well quickly she will not prosecute George.

Ruling on Money Orders.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The Comptroller of the Treasury has decided that postal money orders be payable only by postmasters upon whom they are drawn, and to whom notice of the issue thereof has been sent. It has been the practice heretofore to cash money orders at postoffices other than those on which they are drawn and for the postmasters cashing such orders to turn them into the postoffice department as vouchers.

PARKER CONTEST PAPERS FILED

Late Republican Candidate Makes Wide Charges.

SATURDAY LAST FILING DAY

ALLEGATIONS ARE SIMILAR TO LEE MERIWETHER'S.

Mr. Parker's Charges in Mayoralty Contest Include Counts of Fraudulent Registration, Repeating and Other Crimes.

George W. Parker, through his attorneys, filed suit in the Circuit Court against Rolla Wells at noon Saturday, contesting the latter's election as mayor of St. Louis.

Seven separate grounds for action are alleged in the petition prepared in the office of William M. Kinsey.

Associated with Mr. Kinsey in the case are Attorneys Frank E. Ritchey, James L. Minnis and C. A. Welch.

It is alleged that from 50 to 200 legal votes cast for Parker in each of the 333 precincts in the city were counted for Wells.

The second count charges that a large number of illegal ballots, in nearly every precinct in the city, were counted for Mr. Wells, although improperly initialed, mutilated or otherwise defective.

"Many Votes Were Thrown Out."

It is further alleged that in many precincts, particularly those in the Twelfth Congressional district, may legal votes cast for Mr. Parker were not counted for him, but were either thrown out on technicalities or left out without excuse or warrant.

The fourth charge is that in five of the downtown wards thousands of Parker ballots were unlawfully rejected by the judges and clerks of election or by other persons acting for them.

The fifth count charges that in certain wards Parker ballots were extracted from the ballot boxes, destroyed and replaced by Wells ballots. In some instances, it is alleged, the Parker ballots were burned. The stuffing of the ballot boxes by the judges and clerks, who marked a large number of names "voted" as this was done, is also alleged.

The sixth count has to do with charges of wholesale fraudulent registration and the work of "Indians."

The final charge is that in 28 precincts, in the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth wards, the legally certified Republican judges and clerks were not allowed to serve, but their places were usurped by other parties, under the protection of the police, who ejected the real judges and clerks from the polls when they appeared.

Lee Meriwether, who is also contesting the election of Mayor Wells, filed his petition in the Circuit Court Friday afternoon, as stated in the Post-Dispatch. The allegations are about the same as those contained in Mr. Parker's suit, except that Meriwether, instead of Parker, is alleged to have been the victim of the frauds charged.

Umbrella Mender Arrested.

Charles Lipscomb, an umbrella mender, called Friday at the home of Alex Pfiffner on South Chestnut street in Belleville and solicited work in his line. There was none and he became abusive. Mr. Pfiffner ordered him away. The man drew a hatchet and tried to throw it at Pfiffner. The latter knocked him down. Officer Grunewald arrested the man, who was intoxicated.

SEQUEL TO RACE WAR

WALTER FISH, 12-YEAR-OLD WHITE BOY, DIES AT HOSPITAL.

STABBED BY A COLORED BOY

Fight for Possession of a Pond for Skating Led to the Trouble on March 28.

Walter Fish died at the City Hospital at 7 o'clock, Saturday morning from the effects of a stab wound received on the evening of March 28, at the hands of George Decatur, a colored boy, aged 13 years.

Walter Fish was 12 years of age and lived with his parents at 1603 Union Boulevard. The stabbing occured at Arlington and Easton avenues and was the outgrowth of a quarrel between the white and colored boys of the neighborhood, as to who should skate on a pond at that locality.

On the evening of the trouble the colored boys had been skating on the pond and a crowd of white boys arrived. The colored boys were not through with their sport and would not leave. Among the white boys were Fish and Mark McLaughlin, 12 years old, living with his parents at 5164 Easton avenue.

A fight resulted and George Decatur drew his knife and stabbed both Fish and McLaughlin. McLaughlin was taken to his home, where his wound was pronounced serious. Fish was sent to the City Hospital. His wound was on the right side.

After the stabbing the colored boys ran away. The police discovered that young Decatur had done the cutting but he fled the city and though the police have made every effort to locate him they have failed.

The coroner will hold an inquest on the body of Fish. The McLaughlin boy recovered from his wounds.

NEW TRANSIT COMPANY LINE.

A new division of the St. Louis Transit Co. has been opened, connecting the Market street line with the line across the southern portion of King's highway. This King's highway line runs south from Chouteau avenue to Oak Hill.

Formerly, to get downtown via this line, it was necessary to transfer to the Tower Grove line. The new line furnished a much more convenient way. Its cars run from a point on the Manchester avenue near Tower Grove Station, West on Old Manchester road to King's highway.

The tracks do not quite reach the Market street line tracks, however, and passengers must cross the 'Frisco Railroad tracks at this point to make connection.

THE COACH TURNS OVER.

One of a Philadelphia Pleasure Party Sustains Skull Fracture.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—A coaching party, consisting of several of the most prominent young men in Philadelphia, was overturned in the streets today by a wheel catching in the car tracks, and Joseph E. Widener, aged 30 years, son of P. A. B. Widener, sustained a fracture of the skull. He was removed to a hospital and cannot live. Harrison K. Caner was also badly injured.

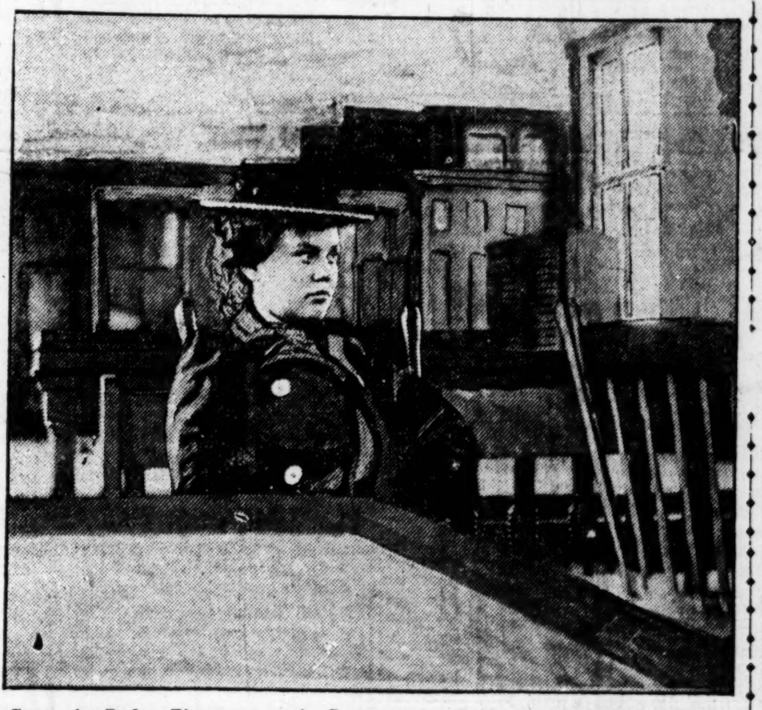
LITTLE GIRL FINED FOR

THROWING STONES SAYS SHE WAS

PICKING 4-LEAF CLOVERS



Scene in Judge Zimmermann's Courtroom Friday Morning When Gertie Davenport Was Fined $5 for What She Said Was Picking Four-Leaf Clovers.

—Photographed by the Post-Dispatch.

Miss Gertie Davenport Put Up a Romantic Defense in a Police Court, but Stern Justice Frowned Upon Her Plea.

> I know a place where the sun is like gold
> And the cherry blooms burst like snow,
> And down underneath is the cosiest nook,
> Where the four-leaf clovers grow.
> One leaf is for Faith and one for Hope,
> And one is for Love, you know,
> And God put another just for luck—
> If you search, you will find where they grow.
> OLD SONG.

The unromantic charge of throwing stones made Friday against bonny 15-year-old Gertie Davenport of Schirmer street was the prelude to a sentimental defense that would have become the court in the forest of Arden.

But justice is blind and has passed the heydey of her youth in the Wyoming Street Police Court, so it came to pass that the fair maid, though defended by Dan Cupid, was beaten by her accusers, Miss Nellie Haley and Miss Belle Kaysing of 7619 Polk street, who had Attorney Burgess for their mentor.

Both women averred that Miss Davenport gathered stones in the quarry below their cottage and advanced to the very gates of their domicile with great pugnacious intent.

Furthermore, they avowed that the defendant was much more of the fiery Amazon than her expression of innocence might indicate.

"We'll hear the defendant," said Judge Zimmermann.

Miss Davenport, with winsome smile that rebounded from the judge's stern visage, turned confidently to the bar of justice.

"Why, judge, I was stooping in that quarry, just as the ladies said——"

"Oh!" The judicial frown deepened. "You were gathering stones."

"Oh, no, no, no! Why, judge, I was after"——

The girl's hesitancy was marked by a flaming face.

"Tell it—tell what you were after," was the mandate.

"Oh, judge, don't you know? Why, I was hunting four-leaved clover!"

"For greens?"

"Oh no, no. For lovers! Every girl may have a sweetheart if she finds the lucky clover."

"Ah!" said Judge Zimmermann.

"Whew!" said Attorney Burgess.

"The minx!" exclaimed the plaintiffs.

But Miss Davenport sat smiling. Perhaps the memory of her girlish hopes that had attended her search for the lucky clover in the sunshine and under the fragrant trees of her Polk street domain fortified her mind.

But Arden's duke was not holding court in St. Louis Saturday, and myriads of four-leaved clover could not explain the great dents that the Misses Haley and Kaysing averred were plain to the view on their cottage door.

"I fine you $5," said the judge, in the plain-drunk-sentence tone.

Sentimental Gertie sat wondering while her mother in prosaic fashion paid hard coin for her freedom.

NEXT MEETING OF DIRECTORS MAY 2

Director Generalship Is the Main Thing.

SPENCER NOT A CANDIDATE

WORLD'S FAIR DIRECTORS TO BE IN THREE CLASSES.

One of the First Things to Be Done at the Next Meeting Is the Establishment of Headquarters at Buffalo.

The first meeting of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co. will be held in St. Louis, May 2. The call for the meeting will be issued within a few days.

One of the first matters taken up by the directors, after perfecting an organization, will be to appoint a committee to wait upon William I. Buchanan, director-general of the Pan-American Exposition, to ascertain upon what terms his services can be secured for St. Louis.

The local promoters of the Fair have so far had no direct communication with Mr. Buchanan.

A special dispatch from Buffalo states that Mr. Buchanan's friends are anxious to have him take the director-generalship of the St. Louis World's Fair, as it would give him far greater opportunities than he has yet enjoyed.

His ambition is said to be to produce the greatest world's fair ever known.

The Buffalo people realize that with the opening of their exposition the most important work of the director-general is finished. His great task is to make the fair; others can manage it. St. Louis will not need a director-general until some time in June, after the site is selected, and it is thought that by that time Mr. Buchanan, if selected, will be available.

Among the first questions to be taken up by the local directors will be an appropriation of funds for a Missouri building at the Pan-American Exposition. This building, by an understanding with the state authorities, will be used jointly by the Missouri commission to the Buffalo Exposition and the Louisiana Purchase Centennial Exposition management.

Joint Building at Pan-American Ex.

The Missouri commissioners have been authorized to select a site and no time will be lost in providing the building, which will not be expensive. It will serve as St. Louis and Missouri headquarters during the fair, and literature on the subject of the St. Louis World's Fair will be distributed from it.

Former Gov. D. R. Francis has gone to Hot Springs, Ark., and will not return until Tuesday morning.

His object in leaving the city, it is said, was partly to secure a little rest and partly to avoid the job-hunters who have made life a burden for him. Applicants for positions in the World's Fair have been as plentiful as spring blossoms, and each candidate has a long list of indorsements, which he insists on submitting.

The other directors have also had to contend with the place-seekers and idea-promoters who have haunted their offices and residences, but not to the extent Mr. Francis has.

William H. Thompson will return from New York next Wednesday, May 1. The discussion over the question of a local against an outside director-general is still versus an outside director-general is still going on in an informal way among the directors. Corwin H. Spencer, who has been centered upon as the most likely man in case a St. Louisan is chosen, said to the Post-Dispatch Saturday:

Directors Will Be in Three Classes.

"I am not a candidate for the director-generalship. That is all I can say at present."

Pierre Chouteau, one of the directors, said:

"The question of electing a director-general has been discussed only in an informal way. That question, as well as that of site and the plan and scope of the exposition will have to be taken up by the directors Nothing will be done while Messrs. Francis and Thompson are out of the city."

The directors will divide themselves by lot into three classes, one to serve one year, another two years and the third three years. In this manner, one-third of the directors will be elected each year.

The law under which the corporation was formed provides for the election of a president, one or more vice presidents, a director-general and such other officers as may be required. Bylaws for the government of the directory will have to be adopted at the outset, and the offices created before they can be filed.

It is probable that the directors will be divided into committees, that on site being the most important for the present.

WISCONSIN GIVES $25,000.

Will Exhibit Dairy Products at the World's Fair.

MADISON, Wis., April 27.—The State of Wisconsin will expend $25,000 for an exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair. The appropriation bill, passed yesterday, provides for the appointment of a commissioner and the payment of his expenses.

The same sum was voted the Buffalo Exposition two years ago. Dairymen were especially anxious for its passage today, and fine exhibits will be made of dairy products and tobacco, and Milwaukee brewers will also make a pretentious exhibit.

ARKANSAS IS IN LINE.

An Appropriation of $30,000 Meets Approval of the Senate.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 27.—The state senate has voted an appropriation of $30,000 for the maintenance of an exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair. Senators Brown and Carlock voted against the bill, but it went through as originally passed by the House.

HYATT AGAIN PREDICTS RAIN

Weather Forecaster's Map Indicates That Showers Will Possibly Fall Here Saturday Night.

Dr. Hyatt continues to predict showers.

"Unsettled tonight, with possibly showers," was his Saturday bulletin.

"It is cloudy all over the western half of the United States," the doctor told the Post-Dispatch, "and there is rain at Kansas City. "So, I hardly think the showers will miss us.

"Sunday will probably be fair, though cooler."

The cooler weather is being wafted towards St. Louis according to the official forecaster, from Montana, where it is now snowing.

BRIDE ASSERTS SHE WAS ROBBED

Mrs. Clark Believes She Was Chloroformed.

LOST $1000 IN JEWELRY

ROBBERY SAID TO HAVE OCCURED FRIDAY NIGHT.

St. Louis Police Are Investigating the Thrilling Story of Asa Clark's Bride, Who Says She Is His Fifth.

Mrs. Florence Catherine Heitz Clark, who says she is the fifth wife and the bride of two months of Asa Clark, residing at 2915 Lucas avenue, has requested Chief of Detectives Desmond to recover nearly $1000 in diamonds and jewelry, of which she says she was robbed at her new home early Friday evening.

Mrs. Clark spent the night with her son, Leo Heitz Cummings, 10 years old, in the detention room of the police matron at the Four Courts, after telling Chief Desmond that she was convinced she had been chloroformed in her apartments some time Friday afternoon.

Detectives Walsh and McCarthy, detailed to unravel the mystery, made to their chief Saturday morning a verbal report, which reveals a case that is puzzling the police. Mrs. Clark also made an additional statement regarding her relations to her husband.

She told the detectives that she had met Clark through a matrimonial advertisement in a St. Louis newspaper which she read at her home in Evansville, Ind., during March. After a short correspondence she married the advertiser March 31, at Evansville, only a few months after she had been divorced from Norman Cummings of Sioux City, Io.

Third Wife Is in St. Louis.

Detectives McCarthy and Walsh learned through her of the address of Mrs. Asa Clark, the third wife of her husband, at 2948 Clark avenue. The detectives visited Mrs. Clark and she confirmed the statement and gave the names of three other women to whom she said her former husband had been married.

These women were, according to her statement, May Kiefler of Boston, Mass., deceased, Libby Stroh of Michigan, deceased, and Emma Perrin of San Antonio, Tex., the fourth wife.

The detectives ascertained at the Clark residence on Lucas avenue that the household was made up of Asa Clark, Totty Clark, his 18-year-old daughter by Mrs. Asa Clark of 2948 Clark avenue, Mrs. Martha Gill, who says that she is the sister of Asa Clark, and Mrs. Florence Clark, the woman who has complained to the police of her losses.

Mrs. Asa Clark told Detectives Walsh and McCarthy that Mrs. Gill was not the sister of her former husband, and that she was in a position to know whereof she spoke, because she had been personally acquainted with his only sister, Mrs. Mary Miller of Battle Creek, Mich.

Clark Figured as Robbery Victim.

Clark figured as the reported victim in a robbery on the train between St. Louis and Memphis, Tenn., while he was on his bridal tour with Mrs. Emma Perrin Clark over a year ago.

The story was published in St. Louis papers. He reported to Chief of Police Richards of Memphis that he had lost $3450 while on the way to that city. The money was never recovered. Mrs. Perrin, the detectives say, claimed that the money was a portion of her dowry.

Mrs. Asa Clark told the detectives that Mrs. Emma Perrin Clark still resides in this city, but she is not aware of the address. A search is being made to locate her.

An investigation of the Clark premises at 2915 Lucas avenue resulted in the discovery by the detectives of a man's black derby hat with a black cambric mask pinned to the sweatband. It was found in Mrs. Florence Clark's chamber. When the detectives arrived at the house after the matter had been reported at headquarters, they discovered Mrs. Clark suffering from a violent form of hysteria for which she was being treated by Dr. Counzelman.

Says a Robber Was in the House.

Clark and Mrs. Gill related that the family was at supper about 7 o'clock Friday evening. Mrs. Florence Clark had been indisposed during the afternoon, the time when she asserts she experienced a suffocating sensation while dozing on the lounge in the drawing room.

A scream was heard in the upper rooms. The family declare that they jumped from the table, and Mrs. McGill, who had just gone upstairs a few minutes before, came running down the front stairs with the exclamation that a robber had assaulted her in Mrs. Clark's room. The search that followed disclosed that the jewels were missing.

Among the stolen property are a gold ring, set with diamonds, valued at $125; two plain twisted-gold diamond rings, valued at $115; one opal ring, surrounded with diamonds, $50; one solitaire opal ring, $10; one plain gold ring, with the initials J. E. H. inside, $5; three gold rings, set with opals, $20; gold earrings, stick pins, gold nose glasses and neck chains and a gold hunting-case ladies' watch, valued at $100.

Mrs. Florence Clark says that she has been induced by her husband to part with alimony amounting to $12.50 each month, which she receives by a decree of court from her former husband, Norman Cummings, for the maintenance and education of their son.

Asa Clark, according to Mrs. Clark of Clark avenue, was deputy United States marshal at Louisville, Ky., under the Harrison administration and previous to that time he was an engineer on several southern roads.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

UNSETTLED.

For St. Louis and vicinity—Unsettled Saturday night, with possibly showers; probably fair and cooler Sunday.

Illinois and Indiana—Fair Saturday night and probably Sunday; continued warm; fresh southerly winds.

Kansas—Partly cloudy Saturday night and Sunday, with possibly local thunderstorms; cooler Saturday night and in east portion Sunday; variable winds.

Tennessee and Kentucky—Fair Saturday night; Sunday fair in east, probably showers and [illegible] in west portion; [illegible] winds.

CUBAN TEACHERS' VISIT STARTS HEALTH REVIVAL

Paine's Celery Compound Doing Wonderful Work Among Sick.

The visit of hundreds of bright Cuban teachers to the United States last summer has caused a tremendous health-revival in Havana and Santiago.

The American idea, "A sound mind in a sound body," is one of the first lessons Cuba and Porto Rico are learning.

But they are learning fast.

Whatever distrust Cubans may have of American politicians, they have confidence in America's greatest remedy, Paine's celery compound.

It has opened the eyes of the people of Havana and Santiago to the possibilities of good health in a way their crude remedies had never let them imagine.

Paine's celery compound is doing a tremendous missionary work this spring among the sick, not only throughout the United States, but wherever the American influence is felt.

The best families in Santiago are taking Paine's celery compound. The common people are looking after their health as never before. American physicians in Havana are ordering the great spring remedy. Its health-giving effect on friends and relatives who first tried Paine's celery compound in the United States has encouraged thousands of despondent, hopeless sufferers at home to use it. The result in all these cases has been the direct cause of the health-revival that is now arousing such tremendous enthusiasm.

That Santiago seconds Havana's endorsement of Paine's celery compound is shown by the following letter from Mrs. Belen Guerra:

Santiago, Cuba, Jan., 1901.

Wells, Richardson Co.:

Dear Sirs—I have had the gout in my fingers and hands. My limbs were benumbed and I could hardly stand. I went to several physicians. A druggist advised me to use Paine's celery compound. I began at once to get better, and today I am perfectly well. Naturally I have great faith in Paine's celery compound. Very truly yours,

MRS. BELEN GUERRA.

Every one in this springtime needs to purify the blood and regulate the nerves. Carry home today—not by and by—a bottle of Paine's celery compound. Cure nervousness, neuralgia and rheumatism this spring. You can now put your health on a sound basis by means of Paine's celery compound.

Such evidences of an unhealthy condition as those constant headaches, melancholy, dyspepsia or constipation rapidly disappear under the cleansing, regulating action of Paine's celery compound.

HILL ACQUIRES NEW ROADS.

Several of the Colorado Lines Are to Be Consolidated.

DENVER, April 27.—J. J. Hill and his associates will, by June 1, have control of the Colorado Southern, Fort Worth & Denver City and probably the Colorado Midland roads. A representative of Mr. Hill left Denver for Fort Worth last Tuesday with Frank Trumbull, president of the three roads. It is said that the new director in the Fort Worth & Denver City road will be a representative of Mr. Hill. From Fort Worth Mr. Trumbull will go to New York, where the details of the combination will be settled.

PRESIDENT LIKES THE PLANS.

He Will Make a Speech at Kansas City Convention Hall.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 27.—President McKinley will deliver a speech in Convention Hall, during his stay in Kansas City on his way home from the Pacific coast, according to E. M. Clendening, secretary of the Commercial Club, and head of a committee on entertainment that has just returned from Washington. Mr. Clendening says that the Preseident personally approved the elaborate plans mapped out for the occasion.

MRS. HERRON IS HIS DEFENDER

She Thinks Citizens of Grinnell Are Busy-Bodies.

"I AM HIS BEST FRIEND"

SHE THINKS PROF. PARKER AND OTHERS WAITED TOO LONG.

They Have Known Prof. Herron's Heresy and Conduct for Eight Years, but Have Remained Silent and Passive.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TRYON, N. C., April 27.—The divorced wife of Prof. George D. Herron of Grinnell, Io., is living here. She says neither the professor nor his ally, Miss Rand, has a better friend than she.

Furthermore, Mrs. Herron intimates that Dr. Hillis of Brooklyn and the busy citizens of Grinnell make her tired.

Mrs. Herron had not heard of the storm that has been raised in Grinnell and at New York over her hsuband's divorce when a Post-Dispatch reporter saw her today.

For eight years Miss Rand had been intimate in the Herron home, she said, just as if she were a sister to Dr. Herron or herself. She declared that it was of no concern to her if Miss Rand and Dr. Herron married today or tomorrow, but if the marriage took place the public could draw its conclusions as to the divorce and the preceding circumstances.

She refused to say anything regarding her reasons for suing for divorce, her husband's failure to oppose the suit or the amount of alimony except to state the sum was sufficient to support herself and children.

When the dispatch from Grinnell was shown her Mrs. Herron smiled sarcastically and said that she appreciated the motives of Prof. Parker and the others, but they were rather late taking this matter up, that for eight years they had been aware of the facts upon which they based objections to Dr. Herron and yet all that time they had remained quiet until she made matters public.

Her tone in speaking of the Grinnell people was rather resentful, though she said she wished to thank them for their intended kindness. She spoke of Dr. Parker as a venerable old man, who means well, but she thought his antagonism to Dr. Herron was largely due to political differences.

Asked if she knew the other signers of the Grinnell protest, she said:

"O, I have marketed with some of them."

These people, she continued, were anxious to down Dr. Herron politically and it was to this motive more than friendship for her that she ascribed their interest in the case. She refused to say whether or not she indorsed Dr. Herron's religious and sociological views, but declared that they were the same he had been preaching for years and that Dr. Hillis of Brooklyn and others who formerly approved them were silly to object to them now.

"I will say this," said Mrs. Herron, "neither Dr. Herron nor Miss Rand has a better friend in the world than myself. I think Dr. Herron is exactly right in refusing to say a word for publication."

Mrs. Herron's intention is to remain in Tryon. Her sister, Dr. Eberhardt, is resident physician at the Presbyterian College for women in Columbia, S. C.

HYPNOTISM IN A HOSPITAL

Young Thurling's Skill to Be Given a Trial.

SOME REMARKABLE FEATS

CAUSED A SUBJECT TO SIMULATE A RAGING FEVER.

His Temperature Rose to a High Point and His Pulse Went Up to 160 Beats a Minute.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Hypnotic feats that mystified physicians were performed by Charles H. Thurling last night at his home, 96 Washington avenue, Brooklyn. Because of his powers as a hypnotic Mr. Thurling has been invited to experiment in the operating room at the Bushwick Hospital.

For several months Thurling has been astonishing the residents of his neighborhood by his examples in hypnotism. In order that he might demonstrate his powers before physicians, he invited Drs. Frank Clark and J. J. Dooling of the Bushwick Hospital and Dr. A. J. Walters and Dr. George Kuhn to be present.

After putting his subject, William Smylie, through the usual tricks performed by professional hypnotists, Mr. Thurling said he would try one of the most difficult.

At his request the four physicians examined the pulse of the young man and agreed that it was 84.

"Smylie, you are suffering from fever," said the hypnotist. "It's getting worse—now it's at its worst."

The doctors made another examination and found that the pulse was throbbing away at a rate of 160 beats to the minute.

They declared this a most wonderful performance. After allowing his pulsation to continue for some time the heartbeats were decreased to normal. The temperature of the subject was changed in the same way.

To illustrate that he could command perfectly the action of the heart and arteries, Mr. Thurling drove two hatpins through the fleshy part of the subject's arm and not a drop of blood came out, nor was there any sign of a wound after the pins were withdrawn.

"Now, Smylie, I am giving you a bottle of the most delicious perfume," declared Mr. Thurling, handing the subject a bottle of strong ammonia.

When it was opened those in the room were almost choked by the fumes, but the subject sniffed the odor and a smile of satisfaction passed over his face.

After the exhibition Dr. Frank Clark said:

"This young man certainly has wonderful power. I have no doubt he has studied hypnotism for a long time, but he is gifted personally. He has consented to go to Bushwick Hospital and try his gift in the operating room, where it may be possible to avoid using anesthetics by throwing patients into the hypnotic state."

Dr. Walters declared that the young man's power would undoubtedly develop as he grew older.

Mr. Thurling is but 25 years old. He is slightly built, has very black, deepset eyes and is very studious.

TWO ST. LOUIS WOMEN GUARD WOMEN AND PRESERVE ORDER AMONG PRISONERS AT CITY WORK HOUSE

Mrs. Martha Uht Discourses on the Strenuous Life in Which She and Mrs. Dora Bartmann Are Engaged.

There are two women in St. Louis who lead the strenuous life, and like it. They are guards in the female prisoners' department at the Workhouse. Mrs. Martha Uht has the day shift, and Mrs. Dora Bartmann guards the prisoners at night.

The house where the women are kept is a long two-story brick structure, with a central hall on each floor, from which open the little cell-like rooms occupied by the prisoners. Sometimes there are 80 or more women, white and black, in the place.

Mrs. Uht, who is the only person in the city bearing that surname, is a woman of decision. She has a firm jaw, which denotes determination, and a keen black eye which indicates mental agility. Another thing—she has a pair of good-sized fists at the ends of her muscular arms. Mrs. Uht is a buxom woman. No other kind need apply for a place as Workhouse guard. A slim woman would soon evaporate in that atmosphere.

"I have no trouble here at all," said Mrs. Uht to the Post-Dispatch. "I'm boss, and they know it. When they get too gay I drop a gentle hint about the bullring, and that quiets them."

The "bullring" is otherwise the dungeon, in the building across the way. The women prisoners would rather see a mouse than spend an hour in the dungeon.

"I've been here 18 months," continued Mrs. Uht, "and I like the job. Why, it's just as easy! All you have to do is to let them know you're the boss and they'll be good.

"It wasn't quite so easy at first. They didn't know me then. I was new, and some of the oldtimers thought they could run things. But they soon found out. A woman who weighs more than I do—and that's a-plenty—thought she'd get up a mutiny. She got one other, a negress, with her, and the two refused to work. I talked to them and mentioned the bullring. The negress had a superstitious horror of the bullring. She got mad at the white woman and began to fight."

"What could you do in that case, Mrs. Uht—call some of the men?"

"Call men? I should say not! I just got in between those two women and made them 'break.' It took only a few slaps to quiet them. They went to work then. When any of the prisoners in my department get to pulling hair I just step in between them.

"Why, I don't have any trouble. These women know what they have to do, and they know me. I keep them at work steadily, cooking and washing, cleaning up the quarters and mending men's overalls and other clothes.

"At meal times I line them up by twos and march them to the dining room. If one starts to fall out of line I give her one look, and she gets back. They don't have to do any lockstep here, but they've got to step lively.

Bull Ring Keeps Them All in Check.

"I have 'trusties,' too, the same as a penitentiary. Those women outside the building, hanging out clothes, are 'trusties.' They know enough to come in when it rains. The bull ring keeps all of them in check."

Mrs. Uht is by no means a fierce looking woman. She has a motherly aspect, and looks upon her charges as naughty children who for the time being need to be kept in restraint.

"Do I carry a club? Well, I should say not!" says Mrs. Uht. "What use would I have for a club? I have fists. Why, this job is just like keeping house in a big hotel."

Just then the Black Maria arrived with a load of men and women. Mrs. Uht darted away to place her part of the consignment under lock and key and put them at work.

"I never give them regular tasks," she had said, "but I don't let them forget that the workhouse is a place where people work."

ROBBED IN DAYLIGHT

VISITOR'S EXCITING EXPERIENCE IN NORTH ST. LOUIS.

THREE MEN ATTACKED HIM

Oscar E. Davidson of Greenville, Mo., Assaulted in the Presence of Spectators on North Ninth Street.

Oscar E. Davidson, master mechanic of the Williamsville, Greenville & St. Louis railway, was assaulted and robbed by three men in one of the most thickly settled portions of North St. Louis Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The holdup was witnessed by many women from their doors and windows, and by an excited groceryman at the corner, but instead of running to the assistance of Davidson, the latter ran back into the store to tell his wife.

Mr. Davidson, whose home is in Greenville, Mo., has been visiting his father, H. Davidson at 3409 North Ninth street. He tells his story thus:

"Having some business in the federal building, I went down town Friday morning, starting home about 10 o'clock. I left the car at Ninth and Angelrodt streets and walked about half a block toward my father's home, when I was accosted by a nicely dressed stranger, who asked me for a match.

Two other men were standing at the edge of the sidewalk, but as they looked like business men, I paid no particular attention to them.

"I thrust my hand into each lower vest pocket, in search of a match, and while my elbows were at this angle, one of the men suddenly pinioned my arms from behind.

"Another struck me a sharp blow on the side of the head with a sandbag or 'billy' and as I fell the third man bent over me and proceeded to go through my pockets. I still struggled and the man with the 'billy' struck me several times on the head and hands, rendering me momentarily unconscious. The men tok $4.80 in silver from my pockets.

"The attack upon me was witnessed by several people in the neighborhood, and there was quite an uproar among the women. A groceryman saw the holdup, but ran back into his store.

"After taking what loose change they could find in my pockets, the men ran east toward Broadway, and some of the boys of the neighborhood, who followed them, say they went on toward the river.

"My father was notified and he had me removed to the City Dispensary on North Broadway. I told my story to the police and a sergeant and three men were detailed to go with me to all the saloons and resorts of that section, but we could not find the highwaymen. I could identify them anywhere."

Mr. Davidson's face is badly bruised.

A report from Gen. Kitchener dated at Pretoria says that Lieut. Reid, with 20 bushmen, captured Commandant Schoeder with 21 Boers and a Maxim gun.

CLERKS TO BE PAID

NEW APPROPRIATION BILL PROVIDES $76,000 FOR THEM.

COUNCIL APPROVES THE BILL

Posse Comitatus Is Allowed $102,000, but the Bill May Not Reach Mayor Wells Till May 4.

As approved by the Council Friday afternoon, the temporary appropriation bill contains provisions for the payment of the sheriff's posse comitatus and of the judges and clerks at the November and April elections. The first item amounts to $102,000 and the second, $76,000 in amount, is included in a total of $99,437.85.

The mayor's contingent fund is placed at $2500, one-fourth of the maximum yearly amount allowed by law for this purpose. No appropriation for park concerts is made. The parks are in most instances allowed the same amounts as in last year's temporary bill. No item for park concerts appears in the bill.

The lines of last year's temporary bill were closely followed, and in most departments there is little variance from the amounts then allowed.

The Insane Asylum is given $26,151.23, which is $5237 less than last year.

The City Dispensary receives about $2000 more than last year.

The Female Hospital and poorhouse are both cut, the latter being reduced more than $4000.

The milk inspector is given $500 more than last year.

The waterworks are cut $40,000 from last year's figures.

Street sprinkling is given $21,000 less, owing to the dropping of the inspection force, whose salaries, however, continue until May 1.

For Washington square, the City Hall Park, $750 is allowed as against $300 last year.

An additional item of $2800 for repairs at the jail is included, and a similar item of $300 for the markets.

The fire department is allowed $177,005.86, about $7500 more than last year.

The bill will probably be passed by the Council next Tuesday. If daily meetings of the House of Delegates are held after Tuesday, as is expected, it will be impossible to send the bill to the mayor before May 4, so that city employes will have a late payday for their April services.

The St. Louis and Pittsburg baseball teams play Saturday at Pittsburg. The flooded grounds have been pumped dry by fire engines, and, with some slight exceptions as to muddy deposits left by the flood, the grounds are in as good shape as ever. Tannehill, who went in for Pittsburg in the last inning of the last game of the series played here, will do the box stunt for the Pirates, while Powell is scheduled to pitch for the Cardinals. The St. Louis team has had no practice since leaving St. Louis and will have none, except for the 15 minutes' warmup before the contest Saturday. Pittsburg played Holy Ghost College Friday, and will go into Saturday's game in much better form than the local team.

It is no sure thing that the Pirates will win, however. Patsy Donovan's band has shown that it can play ball, even though it failed to get the usual Hot Springs trip. Pittsburg is known to have cherished fond hopes of the pennant, and figures that with almost its entire team of the season previous back in the game, while other National League teams are minus several stars of 1900, there is nothing that can beat it. Yet championship aspirations and paper teams have before this resulted in disappointments, and something of the kind may happen the Pirates. At any rate, they will be wise over in the Smoky City if they watch the Donovanites very carefully. St. Louis looks to be a good second in the League race, on form, so far shown. If they come back with a scalp or two of the Pirates, League Park will not hold the fans who will juorney out to see the game with Cincinnati Wednesday.

The American and National leagues had their first opposition seances at Philadelphia Friday, the former being an easy winner in point of attendance. Boston and Philadelphia of the big League and Washington and Philadelphia of the American were the attractions. Less than 1000 people saw the game of the National League, while more than ten times that number watched the battle between the teams of the new organization. Two other games in each league were played Friday and the total attendance at the National League games was 11,000 less than at the American League games. The latter are playing to 25c stands and the receipts of the two rivals are about evened up.

Baltimore has reawakened under the influence of McGraw, and 10,000 people watched the game between the Boston and Oriole teams at the Monument City. Ban Johnson, president of the American League, was present and started the ball rolling. The game was fast and clean and the crowd that saw the Baltimores win by a score of 10 to 6 went away satisfied that the American League can play first-class baseball.

There has been much curiosity as to what McGraw would make of his team of misfits. Muggsy had about as variegated an assortment as it is possible to get together, and most of the critics of the country have confidently assigned his aggregation a place close to eighth in the American League. McGraw, however, can do wonders with men, though he failed to show any such ability in connection with the St. Louis team. He may turn out champions from has-beens, would-bes and stars. The report of Friday's game states that Keister was as good at the bat as in the field, but neglects to state how good that was. Judging from his St. Louis performances, Keister could not play fast enough to get up a sweat.

If Keister plays ball that suits Baltimore this season, McGraw will deserve the name of the greatest captain and manager in the country.

LAWSON'S YACHT WILL RACE.

Argument Ends in a Match for the Independence.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Three special trial races will be sailed between the cup defense yachts Constitution and Independence, the dates of the matches being July 2, 4 and 6.

This announcement has just been made by a representative of the Newport Yacht Racing Association, and in the solution of the deadlock between the New York Yacht Club and Thomas Lawson, which threatened to make impossible a race between the two rivals. The races will take place off Newport.

A rule of the New York Yacht Club forbidding a nonmember to sail in a race of that organization, excluded Thomas Lawson's yacht from competing in the matches that were to decide the choosing of a challenger to meet Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock II. Mr. Lawson, on the other hand, refused to comply with the requirements of the New York Yacht Club and decided to get around the rule by sailing his boat in the New York yacht trial races under the name of a member of that club. The matter was settled by the offer of the Newport Yacht Racing Association to present a cup for a contest between the rival vessels. The races are not under the New York Yacht Club, that club having taken no action whatever respecting the trial matches.

Mr. Duncan, the manager of the Constitution, and Mr. Lawson, the owner of the Independence, have signified their willingness to race for the Newport Association's cup.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY BRIEFLY TOLD

It is announced that Garry Herrman will not start in the Kentucky Derby to be run Monday at Churchill Downs. Bob Tucker, trainer for Capt. Brown, said that, owing to bad weather, he had been unable to get the animal in shape. The withdrawal of Garry Herrman leaves Alard Schech, John Schorr's colt, the favorite for the event.

The draw for Sunday's coursing events to be held at Pastime Park Sunday afternoon, was held Friday night at De Hodiamont. Twelve dogs are entered in the all-age stake, and four in the puppy event. The draw resulted as follows: Puppy stake, White King against Runaway Girl; White Wings' Daughter vs. Golden Rod.

All-age stake, Van Nye vs. Banastar; Chief Elroy vs. Dinah de Diablo; Thursday 13 vs. Lemoine; Spring vs. Mellitus; Tim Murphy vs. May Herschel, and Monsoon vs. Hamburg.

W. J. Travis, national golf champion, narrowly saved his honors in a match with Sidney Carpenter of Philadelphia on the links of the Lakewood Golf Club, New York, Friday. At one time Carpenter had his opponent 2 down, and was playing strong. Travis pulled out at the end, winning by a narrow margin of 1 up.

Owing to the condition of the track at Newport, Ky., the opening of the Newport race course will not be held until Monday. A season of 65 days will then begin, instead of 45.

In the international chess match between American and English college men, the results of Friday's playing were entirely in favor of the American side. The match now stands 2 to 0 in their favor, and in the unfinished game they have the advantage on every board but one. On board one Perry of Harvard will probably resign to Coleman of Cambridge. The other players are Falk of Columbia vs. Wiles, Cambridge; Bewall, Columbia, vs. Lane, Oxford; Rice, Harvard, vs. Grundy, Oxford; Hunt, Princeton, vs. Davidson, Oxford, and Keeler, Columbia, vs. Wright, Cambridge.

TWENTY-TWO GAMES SATURDAY

Post-Dispatch Public School and Parochial School Leagues Will Contest in Many Places.

Twenty-two games are scheduled to be played Saturday by the teams of the Post-Dispatch Public School and Parochial School leagues, one game having been played Friday afternoon by mutual consent of the teams concerned. The schools which took part were St. Patrick's and St. Thomas' of the Parochial League, the former winning by a score of 23 to 11.

As announced previously, reports of the games must not be sent to this office over the telephone, but must be personally delivered.

Protests must not be sent to this office, as it has no jurisdiction in the matter. The committees in charge of the league will give attention to all complaints and take such action as the conditions warrant.

The league standings as well as the reports of Saturday's games will be published Sunday.

LAINE DIED OF APOPLEXY.

Contractor Expired Suddenly While Superintending a Force of Men.

Michael Lane, a well-known architect and builder, stepped into the undertaking establishment of Donnelly Bros. at Twentieth and Wash streets, sat down in a chair and a moment later fell over dead Friday afternoon. He was superintending the erection of a building near by.

Deputy Coroner Boogher pronounced the cause of death apoplexy.

Mr. Laine was 48 years of age and a native of Galway County, Ireland. He came to St. Louis almost direct from Ireland, when but little over 20 years of age. Among his architectural work were the plans for the new cathedral chapel, at Maryland and Newstead avenues, the Holy Rosary Church and other Catholic institutions. He leaves a wife and two daughters. They reside at 4030 North Grand avenue.

HE WAS BLOWN INTO FRAGMENTS

But 60 Pounds of Private Raylfe Can Be Found.

HE WAS USING DYNAMITE

HE SOFTENED UP A STICK OF THE EXPLOSIVE.

He Then Tried to Break It With a Rock and the Explosion Shook Fort Schuyler's Walls.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Private John Armstrong Roylfe, Eighteenth United States Artillery, was blown to fragments at Fort Schuyler by the explosion of 50 pounds of dynamite. Sixty pounds of the poor fellow have been recovered in tiny scraps, but the other 100 pounds of him are missing. Private Peter Haley and Simon Lewinsky, a dealer in old iron, of Brooklyn, were knocked unconscious.

The force of the explosion shook the fort to its foundation. Officers and enlisted men and their families poured out of the dwellings and barracks in terror. The explosion was heard miles away and the earth trembled as if there had been an earthquake.

The government had sold some 60 old smooth bore Rodman guns at the fort.

Lewinsky decided to break them up and used dynamite.

Roylfe and Haley were detailed to help him. Lewinsky had a box containing 50 pounds of dynamite. Roylfe brought along a pail of hot water to soften the explosive. He soaked a stick of the stuff in the pail and then tried to break it in two. It would not break. He picked up a rock and tried to break the stick that way.

Just then Lewinsky saw him. He was 75 feet away, with Haley.

"Look out!" he shouted, "don't do that!" He was too late and the stick of dynamite exploded in the soldier's hands and the detonation set off the entire 50 pounds in the box.

Lewinsky and Haley were found unconscious on the ground, Roylfe was nowhere to be seen. A systematic search was begun over a radius of 300 yards. Bit by bit they picked up fragments of the soldier's body until they had 60 pounds. No more could be found. Roylfe weighed 160 pounds. No fragment weighed more than five pounds.

The fragments were carried to the fort by Roylfe's former comrades and will be buried with military honors at Cypress Hills.

Roylfe was 35 years old, and entered the service in Boston. His relatives live in Ireland.

MR. BRYAN FOR GOVERNOR

Editor Rosewater Says That Is His Ambition, to Be Followed by Election to the Senate.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Edward Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee, is quoted as saying last night:

"William J. Bryan, in my opinion, will be a candidate for governor of Nebraska next year. Mr. Bryan still exerts a wide influence in the state and if he received the gubernatorial nomination, he will be a very hard man to beat. If elected governor he will hope to secure a Democratic legislature, in which event, he will seek an election to the United States senate to succeed Gov. Dietrich, whose term expires in 1905.

"From the best information I can get, I really believe that Mr. Bryan will not look for the presidential nomination in 1904."

OIL TRUST AGGRESSIVE.

Standard Company Said to Control Port Arthur.

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 27.—It is still persistently rumored that the Standard Oil Co. has purchased all the wharfage at Port Arthur, and 90,000 acres adjoining the port.

Port Arthur is the nearest deep-water port to the Beaumont oil field, and by controlling this outlet the Standard Oil Co. can control every barrel of oil taken from the Beaumont fields. The railroads cannot compete in freight rates with pipe lines and ship via Port Arthur to New Orlenas and Galveston. Thus, owning Port Arthur, the Standard Oil Co. will control even the domestic trade in crude oil.

COLLECTING GARBAGE.

The Council Sanitary Committee has gone at the garbage question in an orderly, business-like fashion.

Facts relating to the experience of other cities are being collected and will be turned to account in outlining a plan of procedure in St. Louis.

The information already obtained is encouraging. There is nothing to prevent St. Louis doing as well as Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Toronto and other American and European cities.

It will not do to yield too readily to difficulties or admit that obstacles are insurmountable. In a work of this kind the public interest should be consulted first, last and all the time. The profit to individuals must be subordinate to the health, cleanliness and good order of the city.

What is needed in St. Louis is a system of garbage collection which shall collect the garbage. Experience has demonstrated that under a loosely drawn contract the city is at the mercy of the contractor, who makes his own conditions for his own profit. A reform is necessary which will make it impossible for the contractor to collect or not to collect at his pleasure.

AS TO SAINTS.

Chicago co-eds. are exercised over the discovery of a seeming saint, in the person of Prof. Algie R. Crook, who has announced that never in his life has he used "cuss words," smoked, chewed, drank, or hugged or kissed a woman.

Now, why does the saintly professor couple cursing with kissing and getting drunk with hugging? Has the intoxication from whisky any connection with the intoxication of love? Can't a man be a good lover unless he smokes, chews, uses profane language and looks upon the wine when it is red? Are not teetotalers affectionate and were not the Puritans ardent in their love affairs?

Perhaps the professor is not such a paragon as to frighten the girls, after all. The true saint is not self-conscious and does not brag of his saintliness. That he has betrayed this little failing shows that there is still hope for Prof. Crooks. He may yet lead a fair co-ed. to the altar and prove himself a mere man.

RUSSELL SAGE'S CAUTION.

Mr. Russell Sage's cautionary words on the financial boom should not pass unheeded by the general public.

Mr. Sage says: "The prices of most railroad stocks are entirely too high. There will come, of necessity, a big crash, unless the people come to their senses and get out in time." He thinks it is the wildest market since 1857.

Probably no man is better qualified to speak on this subject. Russell Sage is a veteran speculator, uniformly successful and noted for his temperate views on finance.

It is time to restore sanity. There is fever in the blood of the market and rest and quiet are much needed.

The consequences of a crash at this time will be incalculably serious. The country is in a sound condition in all respects, and everything but this crazy speculative movement points to a period of healthy prosperity. This should not be endangered by reckless booming. Hill, Gates and the other big fish seem to have got out. The small fry should keep out, at least until the excitement subsides.

THOUGHT MARK HANNA WAS PRESIDENT

In a Pennsylvania town a judge refused naturalization to a foreigner because, in answer to the question, "Who is President of the United States?" the applicant replied, "Mark Hanna."

But the would-be American produced a copy of a newspaper containing this editorial paragraph, "Notwithstanding the claim of Republicans Mark Hanna is President," whereupon the judge decided that he had been misled and granted his petition.

The man might have been a humorist. At any rate it is not necessary to think he was ignorant or a fool.

Whether the President of the United States is under William McKinley's hat or Mark Hanna's is a question which has occupied the philosophic attention of thoughtful observers. The Post-Dispatch firmly believes that the present tenant of the White House is the President, but it cannot be denied that the Senator from Ohio is not without great influence. It is just possible that he and his business associates have had their share in shaping the policy of this most business-like administration. There's millions in it.

JOINT OWNERSHIP OF CARS.

A joint ownership of all freight cars is proposed by the railroad companies in order to expedite traffic and increase the amount of service.

The companies have been brought to this by the reduction in the average daily service of cars. This has fallen from 90 to 25 miles a day, and is still decreasing.

This, it must be confessed, is a reproach to the companies, which seem unable to keep cars moving. And it remains to be seen whether a central bureau representing the united ownership can compel consignees to unload more promptly than the individual companies have been able to do.

In another view point ownership of freight cars is another and more tangible step in the direction of consolidation. When the freight cars are all pooled and reduced to a single ownership locomotive and passenger coaches will follow. How long before roadbeds and all other property go the same way?

In other words, will not "community of ownership" of securities result in the exchange of securities of individual roads for those of a consolidated company?

This may appear improbable if not impossible. But the movement is in that direction, and this proposed common ownership of cars is merely an item of a general program.

NEW ST. LOUIS COMING.

The planning of a monster wholesale house covering a block of ground on Washington avenue, between Twentieth and Twenty-first streets, is one of several business undertakings which are directly traceable to the World's Fair. The significance of this building, apart from the evidence of expanding business and confidence in the future of St. Louis, is the extension of the new wholesale district. It marks a westward boundary undreamt of a few years ago.

St. Louis has never been a boom town and we do not anticipate that it will be one in the ordinary meaning of the phrase; even under the stimulus of World's Fair activity. But St. Louis will prosper. The World's Fair will attract a vast amount of capital, brains and energy to the city and its activities in trade and manufacture will be greatly increased.

The future of St. Louis is assured. Its growth will be phenomenal within the next three years. What we need now is to lay the foundations for a beautiful and healthful new St. Louis. We want a city whose attractions and comfort will impress the people who come to St. Louis as much as its business opportunities. Every dollar well invested in public improvements will bring rich returns.

PREDICTING THE WEATHER

An instrument to detect distant thunderstorms has been devised and described by M. T. Tommosina, according to the Engineer, London. "The apparatus consists essentially of a self-decohering carbon coherer placed in circuit with a dry-cell and an ordinary telephone-receiver. The grains of carbon are hermetically sealed in a glass tube, attached to the telephone magnet, so as to lie horizontally when the receiver is placed to the ear. The impression produced on the observer is that of being transported into the neighborhood of the thunder-storm which might yet be hidden below the horizon. To strengthen the effect the author used three copper 'antenne,' each 30 meters (98 feet) long. In this manner it was found possible to observe the development of a violent thunder-storm at a distance 12 hours before it broke loose at the observing station, which was situated on the Lago Maggiore. A distant rain is indicated by a rattling sound before a cloud is visible."

PATIENCE DOES THE TRICK.

When you know you are on the right track, do not let any failures dim your vision or discourage you, for you cannot tell how close you may be to victory. While in this despondent mood, he saw a poor woman rubbing an iron rod on a stone to make a needle. Struck by the wonderful patience of the woman, he went back to his studies with new determination and became one of the greatest scholars in China. —O. S. Marden, in Success for May.

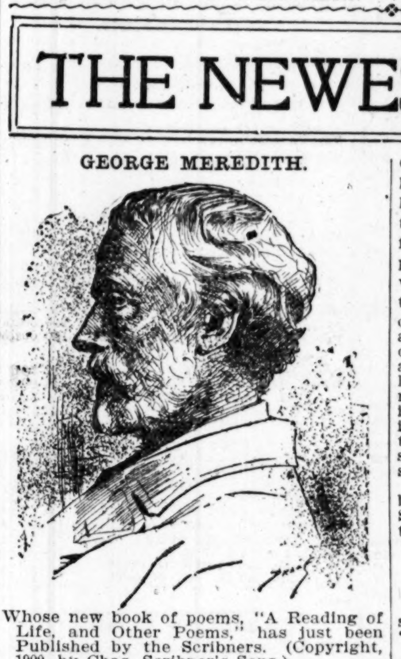
THE NEWEST BOOKS.

GEORGE MEREDITH.



Whose new book of poems, "A Reading of Life, and Other Poems," has just been Published by the Scribners. (Copyright, 1900, by Chas. Scribner's Sons.)

STUDENTS and general readers will find in "The Spanish People," by Martin A. S. Hume, a volume full of entertainment and instruction. The author is a specialist, being editor of the calendars of Spanish state papers, but he is as well skilled in expression, philosophical in temper and graphic in narrative.

The story begins 1100 years before the birth of Christ when the sailors of Tyre and Sidon exploring the Mediterranean, touched the Iberian peninsula and founded a Phenecian colony. From this moment the development of the people is traced to the present time.

It is an account of the people, not a mere narration record of political mutations. Who were the Spanish people, what was their genius, what was their word, what was their place in the system of nations, how and why they rose and fell—these are the subjects of this most interesting volume. It is a valuable contribution to historical literature. ("The Spanish People, Their Origin, Growth and Influence," by Martin A. S. Hume, with index and bibliography in the Great People's Series, D. Appleton & Co., New York).

IN the series of "Great Commanders" the volume devoted to Gen. Meade must hold a front rank. Of the central figures on the Union side at the close of the Civil war that of Meade was the least known as to personality, and, perhaps, also lacked most in popularity, at least among that great part of our people who are affected less by intellectuality than magnetic power over men. This volume is devoted wholly to Meade the general rather than to Meade the man, and the lofty military qualifications of the soldier who rose from a brigade command to the supreme control of the largest and best equipped Union army, held it until the close of the war—longer than any other of its many commanders—and with it fought the culminating battle of the war, have been set forth in unequivocal terms. In fact, so loyal is the author to his subject as to indulge in strictures on others that, at this day, would seem better left unsaid.

LITERARY NOTES.

A collection of new poems to be issued soon by Edwin Markham bears the title "Lincoln and Other Poems."

Those who believe that few people take novels seriously in these days should follow the case of Miss Caspari of Baltimore. She is accused of appropriating upwards of $150,000, and, as a part of her novel defense, says that she had imagined herself to be a character in a book—none other, in fact, than "Red-Head" Nordman, in John Uri Lloyd's "Stringtown on the Pike." This is a new proof that novels sometimes are read and digested.

Dodd, Mead & Co. announce for early publication a novel by Prof. W. H. Venable of Cincinnati, O. It deals with Aaron Burr's audacious scheme of founding an empire in the Southwest, for the furtherance of which the famous Blennerhassett expended his whole fortune and sacrificed his beautiful island home in the Ohio river. Prof. Venable is an acknowledged historical authority and in addition is thoroughly acquainted with all that portion of the country in which the scene of the story is laid.

The Popular Science Monthly for April, which completes the 58th volume, opens with an article on Malpighi, Swammerdam and Leeuwenhoek, by Prof. W. A. Locy of Northwestern University. To these three men we owe the foundation of biological science—the first description of the minute structure of plants and animals and of the development of the chick's egg, the discovery of animalculae and much besides. The article is elaborately illustrated with portraits and reproductions from the original works.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY AGAIN.

In the "Correspondence Column" the other day I noticed that the editor said: "In case of death of vice-president nobody succeeds." I would like to call his attention to article 2, section 1, clause 5 of the constitution of the United States, which provides in case of death, resignation or inability to discharge his duties, a President by appointing the vice-president, and a footnote to clause is as follows: "In case of a vacancy in the office of both president and vice-president the office of President will devolve, in regular succession, upon the members of the cabinet."

I think if "Malcolm" will get a copy of the constitution he will find out that the office is never vacant as long as there is a member belonging to the cabinet. A READER.

If "A Reader" will read the constitution again, and the footnote, which, by the way, is not a part of the constitution, he will find that the answer to Malcolm was correct. When the vice-president dies his office become vacant and the vacancy is not filled. But to prevent a possible vacancy in the office of President, Congress passed a law providing that in the event of a vacancy in the offices of President and vice-president, the members of the cabinet shall succeed to the presidency in a prescribed rotation. This is not to say that in the event of the death of the vice-president the secretary of state or any other cabinet officer becomes vice-president. He continues a member of the cabinet and the vice-presidency is left vacant.

The only duties the vice-president has to perform are those of president of the Senate, and when he dies these duties are performed by the president pro tem. elected by the Senate.

When Vice-President Hobart died, during McKinley's first term, the secretary of state would have become President had Mr. McKinley died. But there was no vice-president.

I am glad that "A Reader" has read the constitution and the footnotes. If every reader would do so, they would all know that a Catholic is eligible to the presidency and that a President may serve an indefinite number of terms.

POOR FELLOW.

What is the most popular and correct way for a gentleman to ask a young lady permission to escort her home. OLD TIMER.

There isn't any "most popular and correct way to ask a young lady for permission to escort her home." Just ask her. Be natural. Do you imagine that life is a tedious ritual where everything should be done by rule? It isn't. When you have anything to say, say it, frankly, naturally, politely, sincerely. If you haven't anything to say, don't say anything. If you have anything to do, do it, quietly, courageously and without thinking of yourself. Think of other people.

A DISTINCTION WITHOUT A DIFFERENCE.

Kindly advise through the columns of your paper the difference between a "railroad" and "railway," and if none, why some roads will use latter instead of former. H. D. AITCH.
East St. Louis, Ill., April 12.

The difference between "railroad" and "railway" is about as much as between tweedledum and tweedledee. The English prefer "railway" and "railroad" is considered an Americanism. But the usage of some of the best American writers, who know English as well as the English, has given the word good standing. Besides, "road" is a generic term embracing highways, ways, streets and lanes, and the use of it goes back to Shakespeare, if not beyond.

POST-DISPATCH SERIES OF FAMOUS SHORT STORIES

A PERPENDICULAR RAILROAD

By Cy Warman.

WHEN the Calumet Branch was built it was not with the hope of increasing the earnings of the passenger department, but merely to bring the ore down from the iron mines that were up there. In fact, when the road was opened trains were not allowed to carry passengers at all. About 220 feet to the mile is the maximum grade of the mountain railways of this country. A steeper road is neither profitable nor safe. The Calumet Branch ascends 408 feet to the mile, and if they carried passengers the gross earnings would not pay for the people they would kill.

If the reader can imagine himself in a bucket going down a well after the rope has parted he can form a very good idea of the action of a locomotive let loose on a four hundred and eight foot grade. George Russ let the 409 get away from him one day, and from a dead standstill she was able to get up speed enough to throw her from the track before she passed the second telegraph pole. They found her at the bottom of a deep gulch and drew her mangled remains up with blocks and falls and locomotives. More than one engineer, after making his maiden trip over the Calumet Branch, has asked for a change.

The writer of this sketch belonged to that class. Old "King" Cole kept the run a whole summer and never had an accident. The Branch was always closed in winter the same as a bathing resort. When spring came again and the old man was called for the Calumet he refused to sign the book.

Of course there was not a man on the division who was not willing to face death, but there were other runs, longer, to be sure, but more desirable.

Whenever a new man was employed from an eastern road—"prearie sailors" we used to call them—the Calumet run was offered him. "Here's a short run," De Remer, the foreman, would say: "ten miles, one trip a day, pays $4. You can go up in an hour, and come down"—then the foreman would suppress a grin and glance about for expert testimony: "How fast can he come down, Cole?"

"Fast as he wants to," says the old man, sliding off the "loafing bench."

"Yo' in big luck if yo' don't come down in a woden ovahcoat, sah," says McIvor, oiling the 270. McIvor always had that playful way with strangers.

Mr. Lee, the traveling engineer, would go out with the new man the first day, and the next day the new man would go out alone—looking for a railroad that was not so high at the other end.

McIvor took a cruel delight in taunting the tenderfeet who tried the steep run and found it too swift, and the master mechanic determined to take it out of the Virginia gentleman and ordered him out on the Calumet. McIvor went along like a little soldier, but when they came for him the second day he refused to sign the book.

"What's the matter with this run?" demanded the master mechanic.

"Well, there's nothin' the mattah with the run, Mistah Jones, only it's that infu'nal pu'pindiculah I can't find a place to set my dinnah pail."

It began to look as though they would have to promote a reckless fireman to get an engineer for the Calumet Branch, when Abe Leonard came, unexpectedly, to the company's rescue. "Hardluck" Leonard, as he was called, had worked less than six months in two whole years. He had gotten lost in the mountains while deer-hunting and had his feet severely frozen. Before he was able to work he allowed himself to get hemmed in in the hallelujah corner of a negro revival in Leadville. A dusky damsel, roaring with rapture, tipped the stove over, set the church on fire, and Leonard got burned.

When he had been discharged from the hospital at Salida he went down to Denver to get a clearance from Chief Surgeon O'Connor in order to collect his accident insurance. Leonard went into a drugstore to stop his thirst, the soda fountain blew up and Hardluck went out through the roof and then back to the hospital.

It was after his fall with the soda fountain that Leonard alarmed the master mechanic by asking for the Calumet run.

"He's cou'tin' death," said McIvor; and for once he had no advice or discouragement to offer. He had been over the road.

"Oh, Abe! why do you take that run?" asked Mrs. Leonard, with blanched face.

"It's safer than Sunday-school," said Leonard, glancing at his hand that had been caught in the burning church.

"Gi'me the death run an' the all-night saloon, but keep me away from campmeetin' and sody-fountains."

Mrs. Leonard wiped the tears from her tired eyes and Abe went up the road with his pilot fourteen inches higher than his tank and a gage-cock in the top of his boiler.

The engineer was the least bit nervous the first day, but when his associates undertook to poke fun at him he declared that he had seen worse things than the Calumet run. The air is delightful up there, eight or ten thousand feet above the sea, and Leonard continued to go up and down the hill until the middle of the summer without an acident. The first mishap was the killing of "Whiskey," the famous railroad dog, whose story will be told at another time.

The Branch had been running so smoothly that the officials had ceased to worry about it, and the train and engine crew grew almost careless of danger. That's when the Indians come—when nobody's looking. The train used to go up about 10 o'clock in the morning and come down in the middle of the afternoon. One day, in the latter part of September, it snowed on the Calumet, and when the train started down, the rail was wet and slippery, for the snow was melting as it fell. Leonard knew the danger of a greasy rail and was proceeding very cautiously. The locomotive at times would hold herself, on sand, and help to hold the train with what is known as the "water-brake," but presently the sand gave out or the pipes got stopped up at the bottom with the wet snow, the engine slipped and lurched and broke away from the train. Of course that parted the air hose and released the brakes. The conductor and the three brakemen were on top of the train (a man to each car and the brake set on the caboose), but before they could tighten up the hand-brakes the heavy ore cars hit the floundering locomotive and sent her down the track, like a sled on a slide. The force of the collision, while it gave the engine a fearful start, helped to check the speed of the train.

Each of the trainmen carried a club, which they now put into the brake wheels and cinched them up until all the wheels were sliding. The whirling wheels of the locomotive (whirling backwards) dried the rail so that the train soon came to a dead stop.

The fireman, who had been standing in the gangway, was thrown off by the force of the collision, and Leonard was left alone with the helpless locomotive. In order to appreciate the helplessness of the engine the reader should understand that the power of the water-brake doesn't come from the water, which is flowing from a small pipe into the cylinders, but from the fact that the engine is in the back motion, the action of the pistons creating a vacuum in the cylinders, and that's what holds the locomotive back on a steep hill. The water is only a lubricant to prevent the cylinders from becoming heated and injuring the metal. When there is too much water there can be no vacuum and no resistance. Instinctively, the engineer opened the throttle, the boiler was well filled with water (as it must be, going down a steep grade, to protect the flues and crown sheet), the water rushed into the cylinders, destroyed the holding power, and the engine ran away. If he jumped off on his side, he would go down to the bottom of the rocky gulch. If he were able to cross over to the fireman's side he must expect to be slammed up against a solid stone wall, so he stayed where he was. They had been almost down to the bottom of the hill when the trouble began, and now the runaway engine was nearing the junction with the main line, which ran, at right angles to the branch line, along the banks of the Arkansas river. Beyond the river the walls of Brown's Canyon rose abruptly hundreds of feet, and there, Leonard reasoned, the race must end.

In a second he had fashioned to himself how the engine would look after she had gone against the rock wall at full speed.

Now, he began to wonder whether she would hold the rail until they reached the river, for the pace was maddening. He recalled, strangely enough, his sufferings in the hills and the flames that scorched him in the crowded church, and that he had at no time been without hope. He remembered how, as he went out through the top of the little wooden drug store, he had felt certain that he was not injured and wondered how he would light. He had even endeavored to remain right side up as he came down and escaped with only a broken limb.

But here was embarrassment. There was not much show for him, but he set about (clinging to the cab window) to figure out some small chance of escape. His past experience had educated him for just such an emergency and enabled him to remain perfectly cool at the half-open door of death.

Leonard's hobby was pictures. The cab of his engine was literally papered with pictures, but what he liked better still was a type-written motto that was nailed above the clock. The clock was now dancing about the boiler-head with the tallow pot and oil cans. He could not read the lines, but he knew them, and as he went dashing down the canyon, found himself repeating them:

We come to this world naked and bare,
Our lives are filled with sorrow and care,
We go, when we die, we know not where,
But if we're all right here, we'll be all right there.

Just then the engine crashed over the main line and leaped into the river. But, even as he recited his favorite rhyme, Leonard had figured out a possible escape. As the engine neared the river he stood in the gangway, and the moment she left the bank he leaped, or rather threw himself clear, and lit in the middle of the stream. He was dazed by the force of the fall, but the cold water revived him, and in a few moments he had gained the shore; and today, for what I know, he is still running on the Calumet branch of the Denver & Rio Grande.

The Tendency in Banking.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We notice that Messrs. M. P. Ayers & Co., of Jacksonville, Ill., the oldest private banking house in the State of Illinois—having been in business for more than 48 years—has fallen into line and become a national bank.

It seems to be the tendency of individual banks to change to national ones, and while many individual banking establishments have conducted themselves with credit, yet we think that the change to the National system is on the whole wise. If the Ayers National Bank is conducted with as much credit as the individual firm it will be an honor to the national banking fraternity.

St. Louis. CHARLES PARSONS.

A Novel Point of View.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Alice B., you did right in taking the $40 position from a man, no matter what his salary was.

Woman's place is naturally in the home and her training should be to that end, but the situation today demands that she compete with man in the domain of labor. What else can she do?

A large portion of the male sex refuse to undertake the responsibilities of mankind. They neither marry, build homes or take care of someone's sister. They live in selfish loneliness, make sport of all the women they can and call a married man a chump.

It is this class that has brought labor where it is. The fight today between union and nonunion is between single and married men, between bachelor and benedict, between libertine and husband. Like some other problems this cannot be remedied by the ballot and a good many girls must be prepared to take care of themselves and to crowd men when they can. COLIN C.

Black Eyes vs. Human Nature.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Blond: You say black eyes are signs of evil, fear, contempt and scorn.

Now I wish to say black eyes, combined with blond hair forms a most amiable character. Contrary to that, black eyes combined with black hair is the sign of power or force of character.

But the question is, if this power is used for a moral purpose, or a degraded one—if used for for the former purpose it is honorable, and deserves respect.

"Blond" seems to be very intelligent, but she needs a little study in phrenology, which she can procure at the Public Library. Then she can tell when this power is used for good or bad intentions.

A FUTURE PHRENOLOGIST.

Smoke Abatement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

After several years of unsuccessful effort we are about to secure a law abating the smoke in St. Louis. Much credit is due the Smoke Abatement Association of this city for this result.

Because some of the patent furnaces or devices for preventing smoke have failed owners have concluded that the question of smoke abatement is impossible. This is a grave error. Smoke can be prevented in a most inexpensive way. This is demonstrated in nearly every household daily. A common oil lamp when lighted will smoke badly, but as soon as a burner and chimney is placed over the flame the smoking immediately ceases, showing complete combustion of the oil fuel. It will be noted that the lower side of the lamp burner is perforated with small holes, allowing a sufficient amount of air to form complete combustion. If the wick is turned high the same will smoke badly, proving there is not a sufficient amount of air for complete combustion, or, if as is often the case, the burner becomes dirty, the lamp will smoke; that is to say, the small holes in the burner become clogged, preventing the air from getting through.

This same principle applies to the boiler furnace, as well as the oil lamp, only on a larger scale. It is understood, of course, that the boiler requires the proper furnace, as well as the lamp the proper burner, but this does not necessarily mean an expensive or patented device.

Experience has taught us that an intelligent fireman is most essential for smoke prevention.

As to the Sweeney ordinance, the penalties are quite severe. But if the appointive power under this measure will appoint a man of capacity, skill and experience as inspector, who will advise and suggest remedies to the owners and operators of steam plants, there will be no need of prosecutions, the ordinance will be complied with and we will have a smokeless World's Fair city. J. W. WOOD.

MAXIMILIAN IS AT LAST FORGOT

Austria and Mexico Resume Diplomatic Relations.

MINISTERS TO BE APPOINTED

MEXICO WILL ALSO SEND REPRESENTATIVES TO SOUTH AMERICA.

The Holding of the Congress of American Republics There Has Led Up to This Movement.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—A complete rapprochement between the governments of Austria and Mexico has been brought about and as a result each country is about to send a minister to the other. This terminates an international estrangement dating to the days when young Maximilian of Austria sought to gain a foothold in Mexico and lost his life in the adventure. Ever since then Austria and Mexico have suspended all intercourse with each other, commercially and politically. Recently, however, friendly overtures have been made to terminate the estrangement and have resulted in a satisfactory agreement between them by which the old arrangement of friendship will be resumed. A bill has passed the Mexican Congress reciting the fact of a rapprochement and providing for a minister to Austria at a salary of $15,000 annually. Austria will take similar action by sending a minister to Mexico and this will close the long and historic separation.

The Mexican government has also taken steps to resume diplomatic communication with South American countries, the first move in that direction being the appointment of a Mexican minister to the Argentine Republic. For many years there has been no diplomatic intercourse between Mexico and her sister republics on the southern continent, as there was little commerce between them and few political questions requiring diplomatic representations. Recently, however, Argentina made a friendly move by accrediting a minister to both Washington and to Mexico City and Uruguay has taken similar action. The selection of Mexico City as the place for holding the congress of American Republics has had a further influence in inducing Mexico to extend her relations with southern countries.

As a result of this sentiment a minister to Argentina is now named and one to Uruguay probably will be appointed before long.

It is expected that this will develop speedily into an extension of diplomatic relations between Mexico and all the South American countries.

USED "BRECK" JONES' NAME.

Smooth Swindler Got Money From a St. Augustine Banker.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Breckenridge Jones, president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis, was recently impersonated by a man who succeeded in swindling James T. Dismukes, president of the First National Bank of St. Augustine, Fla.

The story came out today at the meeting of the executive council of the American Bankers' Association.

Mr. Dismukes was in his office at St. Augustine two weeks ago when a man came in and introduced himself as Breckenridge Jones, a fellow-member of the Bankers' Association. Mr. Dismukes had often heard of Mr. Jones and was delighted to see him.

The caller was in Florida on a pleasure trip, he said, and needed a little change. Would Mr. Dismukes cash a small check?

The check was in four figures. Mr. Dismukes was glad of the opportunity to do Mr. Jones a favor and scoffed at the idea of telegraphing to the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis, of which Mr. Jones is president, to see if everything was all right.

Just before Mr. Dismukes left Florida to attend the meetings of the bankers in New York, he got back the check he had cashed. It was marked "forgery." One of the first men that Mr. Dismukes was introduced to when he reached this city was the real Mr. Jones.

SPINELLI FELL FORTY FEET.

Slept in a Third Story Window to Keep Cool.

Frank Spinelli, a cook, 31 years old and single, fell 40 feet from a third story window of his rooming house at 4024 South Broadway at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. At the City Hospital the doctors said that he was not seriously hurt.

Spinelli said that, when he went home Friday night, he was warm. There was a fine breeze coming from his open window and he sat in it to cool. He fell asleep and was awakened when he alighted on the sidewalk.

A DAILY RECORD OF STOCKS AND MARKETS.

SHORTS COVERED MAY

NEAR FUTURE ADVANCED 1 3-8C ON HEAVY SHORT COVERING.

BULLS IN ENTIRE CONTROL

Strong Cables and an Urgent Demand Cause a Sharp Upward Movement in Wheat Prices.

Shorts continued to cover their May wheat lines throughout today's session, on every decline an excellent demand developing. Offerings, however, were light and anxious shorts were forced to make high bids in order to get any of the May future.

In sympathy with May, July prices hardened, the market closing at near the best figures of the day.

Corn and oats were strong, but lightly traded in, the attention of traders being chiefly taken up with the fluctuations in the wheat market.

May wheat closed 1⅜c up for the day and July 1⅛c advanced. May corn closed ⅛c up and July ⅛c advanced. May oats closed ½c up.

Anxious covering by shorts advanced the May wheat future 1½c in the first hour of today's session. There was very little of the fine grain offered, and traders were badly scared and anxious to cover their lines at any price.

An advance of ⅛d in the Liverpool market was largely responsible for the initial advances in American markets, but the support that the short element gave was enough to early increase this advance.

Australian wheat shipments for the week are estimated at 352,001 bu, compared with 380,000 bu last week.

Minneapolis wheat stocks at present are 14,658,488 bu, a decrease of 415,000 bu for the week. Contract stocks are 7,668,574 bu, a decrease of 37,824 bu.

The Argentine wheat visible at present is 3,312,000 bu, compared with 3,496,000 bu last week, and 4,016,000 bu the same week last year.

May wheat locally opened ¼c up at 74¼c, and then, without another sale being recorded, was bid up to 74⅝c. Later the future sold at 74¾c, 74⅞c, 75c, 75⅛c, 75¼c, 75⅜c, 75½c, 75⅝c and again at 75¼c.

July opened ⅜@½c up at 72⅛c, and then sold at 72⅛@72¼c, 72¼c, 72¼@72⅜c, 72¼c, 72⅛@72¼c, 72¼c, 72⅜c, 72½c, 72½@72⅝c, 72⅝c, 72⅝c, 72⅝@72¾c, and again at 72⅝c.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis today were 25,360 bu, compared with 16,871 bu same date last year. Of these 240 sacks and 31 cars were local, compared with 165 sacks and 22 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth today were 253 cars, as compared with 422 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at primary points today were 445,000 bu, as compared with 438,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 377,000 bu, compared with 312,000 bu same date last year.

Corn Futures Ranged Narrowly.

Despite the activity of the early wheat market, corn futures were dull and lightly traded in till after the middle of the session, only one trade being recorded for the May future, and July, although receiving some attention, ranged narrowly.

May sold at 44⅛c. July opened ⅜c up, at 44¾c, and then sold at 44⅝c, 44¾c, 44⅝c, 44½c, and again at 44⅝c.

The Liverpool market did not give much encouragement to the bull, a decline of ¼d being noted at that grain center.

Strength in wheat prevented a possible decline in the coarse grain crop positions.

The Argentine corn visible supply at present is 900,000 bu, compared with 1,000,000 bu last week, and 169,000 bu at the same time last year.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis today were 41,385 bu, compared with 21,550 bu same date last year. Of these 234 sacks and 28 cars were local, compared with 300 sacks and 22 cars same date last year.

Receipts of corn at primary points today were 246,000 bu, as compared with 345,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments 331,000 bu, compared with 332,000 bu same date last year.

Oats Market Was Strong.

May oats were in good demand today, but there were very few offerings and the price recorded in the early market held until near the close.

May oats sold at 27⅞@28c and at 28c.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis today were 19,200 bu, compared with 28,800 bu same date last year. Of these 13 cars were local, compared with 21 cars same date last year.

Cotton Market Grows Stronger.

Cotton futures were in good demand in the early market today, a practically unchanged Liverpool market had little effect on New York.

Sentiment seemed to be somewhat more bullish, however, and advances in the early market were quite extensive. Later there was some scattering selling, and the range weakened.

May cotton at New York opened 6 points up, July 1, August 1, September 4, and November 1.

HORSES AND MULES—Receipts, 150. The market is closing quiet for the week, with a full clearance in all departments. The trade for the week has been active and strong, with a light supply in almost every line. Among the stock that came in today were a few fine horses for the big special sale to be conducted by McFarlane-Evans Co., beginning next Tuesday. This will probably be the last special sale at the National Yards this season and a number of new export buyers are coming in already. There is a good demand for British cavalry horses, with few offered.

The first line of quotations in each class is calculated to represent the full range from common to extra. Dealers, however, often classify superlative bunches (all tops) for buyers, which sometimes sell considerably above the highest quotations. The second line of quotations signifies the bulk of sales and generally represents the various classes as they are sold on the commission market, more or less mixed.

STOCKYARD NOTES.

Four carloads of polo ponies from the J. H. Tappan ranch at San Antonio, Tex., stopped over to feed at the yards today on their way to eastern cities to be used by the elite players of New England. Col. Tappan has an immense establishment at that point for the exclusive "production" of these miniature horses. They are bought in and around that locality and taken to the training grounds, where professional trainers break and develop them so that they are ready to go right into service on arriving in the East. The average polo player knows nothing of the trainnig of these animals, and were he to attempt it, the chances are dollars to plugged dimes would spoil both the pony and his own epidermis. Thus polo pony breaking has ascended to an art, and nowhere is it so thoroughly understood as on the Tappan ranch. Several times a year Col. Tappan sends a consignment like the present one eastward and the little fellows invariably bring high prices.

Most of the 1000 to 1190 pound native beef steers sold at $4.80@5.15 this week.

This week the bulk of the native beef steers, 1300 to 1600 pounds average at $5.05@5.35.

During the week the bulk of the 1200 to 1290 pound native beef steers sold at $4.90@5.20.

Most of the native butcher steers 700 to 900 pounds average sold at $4.40@4.85.

In course of the week Texas and Indian Territory steers were mainly fed offerings, averaged 660 to 1372 pounds and sold at a full range of $3.35@5.25, and the bulk at $4.15@4.70.

Texas and Indian Territory bulls sold at $3@4.25 in course of the week.

Quarantine cattle receipts so far this week 242 cars, of which Texas contributed 213 cars, the Indian Territory 16 cars, Arkansas 10 cars, Mississippi 1 car and Tennessee 1 car and Louisiana 1 car.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, April 27.—Wheat was strong the fore part of the session today, benefited by higher cables and good spot demand, as well as the liberal cash sales yesterday. May opened ⅛c to ½c higher at 73⅜c to 73½c. Realizing sales were heavy, but so active was the demand that the market advanced early to 73⅞@74c. On the advance offerings became light. Local receipts were 96 cars, one of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 253 cars, against 266 last week and 422 a year ago.

Damage claims from Texas and Oklahoma helped the market later, and the trade was the broadest in weeks. May rallied to 74½c and closed 1⅜c higher at 74⅜c.

More liberal country offerings were a consideration among corn traders, but this was offset by a good cash demand. Phillips bid only when necessary to support the market. May opened ⅛@⅜c lower at 47⅞c to 48c and slid to 48⅛c and followed this with a reaction to 48c. July opened unchanged at 45⅝c to 45¾c and sold to 45⅞@46c, reacting to 45⅞c. Receipts were 174 cars, two of contract grade.

The close was steady, May unchanged at 48⅛c and July ⅛@¼c higher at 45⅞c.

Oats were firm on good cash demand, elevator people buying freely. May opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 26½c to 26⅝c and sold to 26¾@26⅞c, later reacting to 26⅝c, where the market steadied. Receipts were 242 cars.

Provisions were dull, but steady in sympathy with the grain markets. July pork opened unchanged at $14.55 and sold to $14.65; July lard unchanged at $8.05, selling to $8.07½, and July ribs a shade up at $7.97½@8, holding steady.

New York Cotton Letter.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Evening up operations constituted a large part of the business on the Cotton Exchange at New York and New Orleans today. Markets generally were somewhat stronger owing to a very steady and stiff tone at Liverpool, and this resulted in some fair buying during the morning, which ended in an advance for the nearby options of 3 to 6 points.

Gains were held until the close.

The Chronicle weekly crop summary was bullish, if anything, and this, together with the smaller port movement, combined to cause the higher range at the close.

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS POSTED.

Western Union Supplies Them to Merchants' Exchange.

Chicago grain and provision quotations were posted on the Merchants' Exchange Saturday for the first time since Aug. 1, 1900. At that time the Chicago Board of Trade was fighting the bucketshops and refused to give the telegraph companies their quotations, as a part of the movement to crush them.

The Western Union has made a contract with the Merchants' Exchange for furnishing of the board of trade quotations. This was presented to the directors of the board of trade Saturday and approved. The quotations were then supplied.

TO USE WIRELESS TELEGRAPH.

Cunard Liners Will Be Equipped With the New System.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Cunard line intends to equip its steamers with instruments for wireless telegraph, and make an experiment to determine its value. Marconi sailed on the steamer Campania a week ago. It is reported that he visited Montauk Point before leaving this country, with a view to establishing a receiving station there.

It is said that the approach of the steamer reported itself by wireless telegraph to a station at Montauk Point would be known here more than 12 hours before she arrived. Vernon H. Brown of Vernon H. Brown & Co., agents of the line, confirmed the report regarding the adoption of wireless telegraph, but said that he knew nothing of the details of the plan.

PRESIDENT HAYS' CABINET.

Southern Pacific Affairs Are to Be on a New Basis.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—It is stated in railroad circles that President Hays of the Southern Pacific is about to inaugurate a radical change in the management of the system. He will form a cabinet of advisers to be composed of the heads of practically all the principal departments of the road, with the single exception of the law department.

The object of this cabinet arrangement is to centralize the authority and responsibility. President Hays will by this means have a firmer grasp on the details of operation of the vast system and all orders will be issued directly by him, after consideration by the cabinet. It is understood that the cabinet will have no authority to interfere with the president in any way, but the members will in reality be advisers to the president, who will be responsible only to the board of directors.

It is also stated that H. E. Huntington will not accept re-election to the vice-presidency, but that he will continue to be a member of the cabinet. E. H. Fitzhugh, formerly of the Central Vermont, will, it is said, be given a position of great importance, though under the new scheme his coming will not mean the displacement of any of the present heads of departments.

MRS. HARRISON ACCEPTS.

Wife of Former President Will Abide by Terms of His Will.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 27.—Under the terms of the will of the late Gen. Benjamin F. Harrison his widow is to receive $15,000 in cash, the summer home in the Adirondacks, the use of the home in North Delaware street and the interest on $125,000 during her life. After her death the last two bequests revert to the residuary estate.

Under the Indiana law she might have demanded one-third of the entire estate, which is valued at about $375,000. She has never entertained any intention of doing so, however, her representatives say. The Union Trust Co., as administrators, will at once proceed with the settlement of the estate.

TELEPHONE CASE SUBMITTED.

Trial of Western Company's Proceeding Against Kinloch Ended.

After a trial lasting three days the suit of the Western Electric Co. of Chicago against the Kinloch Telephone Co. for alleged infringement of patents was submitted to Judge Marshall in the United States Circuit Court Saturday morning.

During the three days the case was before Judge Marshall, the courtroom was filled with charts and maps of telephone appliances, and the history of telephone mechanism has been delved into deeply by the attorneys. Some of the most prominent patent lawyers in the United States were engaged in the suit. Judge Robert S. Taylor, of Fort Wayne, Ind., represented the Kinloch Co. and Attorney Fish, who is said to be the prospective president of the Bell Telephone Co., appeared for the complainant.

The Western Electric Co. asks that the Kinloch Co. be restrained from using a switchboard appliance for which it contends it has the exclusive right. It also asks damages.

To Enforce License Law.—License Commissioner Joseph P. Whyte sent a letter Saturday to Chief of Police Kiely, requesting him to enforce the law concerning unlicensed vehicles strictly after May 1. All owners of vehicles which appear on the streets after that day without a license are to be arrested.

Aristocratic Lawbreakers.

According to an apparently authentic article in a French periodical, not less than 20,000 aristocrats are at present confined in the prisons of Europe. Russia stands first with 12,000 blue-blooded lawbreakers.

COUNCIL DID NOT ACT

DISCUSSION OF MAYOR'S GARBAGE MESSAGE DEFERRED.

MORE INFORMATION WANTED

Tenth Ward Improvement Association Favors Municipal Ownership, but Not of Ed Butler's Plant.

The Council committee on sanitary affairs, at its meeting Friday afternoon, decided to defer action upon the suggestions contained in Mayor Wells' message until further information could be obtained upon the subject of municipal ownership of garbage plants.

Health Commissioner Dr. M. C. Starkloff was present at the meeting, on the invitation of Chairman Sheehan. The latter said to the Post-Dispatch Saturday:

"We decided to do nothing until additional information could be collected from other cities regarding the removal and reduction of garbage. Dr. Starkloff was present and gave us the benefit of his advice, and he was requested to write the health departments of other cities for the purpose of securing the desired information.

"The committee has no disposition except to serve the city's best interests, and if the purchase by the city of the garbage reduction plant is found to be feasible and of advantage to the city, it will certainly be recommended.

As soon as the necessary information is secured, the committee will be called to meet again and its report will be prepared."

At the meeting of the Tenth Ward Improvement Association Friday night at Chippewa Hall, corner of Chippewa street and Oregon avenue, a resolution, offered by H. C. Koenig, declaring for municipal ownership of the garbage reduction plant was passed.

The South Side plant of the St. Louis Sanitary Co. is located in the Tenth ward, and the Koenig resolution provides further that the reduction plant, to be owned by the city, shall be located elsewhere, and, in fact, not in any thickly populated section of the city. For this reason it opposes the purchase by the city of the present plant.

A commitee, composed of Mr. Koenig, J. F. Dauering, C. Brinkof, Edwin Rosenthal and Louis Padberg was appointed to present the resolutions to Mayor Wells, the City Council, House of Delegates and the Board of Public Improvements.

A suggestion that a copy be also presented to Health Commissioner Starkloff was abandoned, on the advice of Judge Zimmerman, who thought it might arouse opposition to the measure.

SALOON LICENSES REVOKED

Eight Places Came Under the Ban of the Excise Commissioner and Were Closed.

Licenses of eight saloon keepers were revoked Friday by Excise Commissioner Seibert, Chief of Police Kiely was notified of Mr. Seibert's action and was advised that the time for the closing of the saloons in question was Friday at midnight.

The salons ordered to close are as follows: John Stout, 2216 Chestnut street; F. J. Foster, 3000 Lawton avenue; Redmond & Bradshaw, 217 North Compton; David Tonella, 2652 Olive street; F. J. Vollmer, 2801-3 Olive street; E. H. Weller, 7 North Broadway; George Vaccarazza, 1019 Pine street, and Jake Schumacher, 525 Clark avenue.

The saloon of Redmond & Bradshaw at 217 North Compton avenue is said to have been the property of Mark Gumberts. It was concerning this saloon last Wednesday night that Gumberts had trouble with M. G. Cooney of 3202 Olive street, who refused to sign a petition for Gumberts to obtain a renewal of his license for the place.

Commissioner Seibert heard evidence Friday against James Sanford of 214 Poplar street; J. A. Willmers, 1833 Olive street, and William C. Zimmermann, 1024 Chouteau avenue. They conduct saloons at the numbers given, and it was alleged that they conducted improper winerooms in connection. Willmers and Zimmermann were instructed that their premises did not meet the requirements of the law and they must remove certain objectionable features. Sanford's case was taken under advisement.

Mr. Seibert announced that after July 3 no more state licenses would be issued in the city. These licenses are held mainly by druggists and grocers, who are authorized to sell in gallon quantities. This law has been repealed and liquor can be sold only in quantities of three gallons and over after July 3.

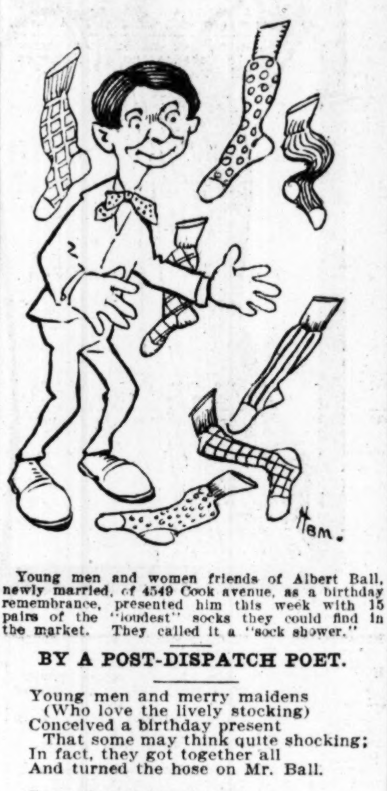
TURNED HOSE ON MR. BALL

The Loudest Footgear Had the Call and Tame Designs Didn't Go at All.



Young men and women friends of Albert Ball, newly married, of 4549 Cook avenue, as a birthday remembrance, presented him this week with 15 pairs of the "loudest" socks they could find in the market. They called it a "sock shower."

BY A POST-DISPATCH POET.

Young men and merry maidens
(Who love the lively stocking)
Conceived a birthday present
That some may think quite shocking;
In fact, they got together all
And turned the hose on Mr. Ball.

Beneath a noisy shower
Of socks the most caloric,
They buried him so deeply
That he (alas, poor Yorick!)
Could make no protest, for his vox
Was drowned by more vociferous socks!

Ah, well! there's compensation;
For he will have this season—
When to the park he goeth—
For joy sufficient reason:
He'll be the only man out there
With hose as loud as ladies' wear!

SAVED INVALID FROM FIRE

Mrs. Lizzie Anderson Carried Mrs. Hanley Downstairs When the House Was Aflame.

Fire at 3 o'clock Saturday morning badly damaged the tenement house at Eleventh and Branch streets and burned the furniture of the four families who occupied the premises.

The occupants did not discover the fire until it had gained great headway and they had barely time to save themselves from the flames.

Mrs. Julia Hanley, a widow, occupied rooms on the second floor, at 3100 North Eleventh street. Mrs. Hanley had been suffering from inflammatory rheumatism for more than a week and was unable to move from her bed. Friday morning, Mrs. Lizzie Anderson, nearly 60 years old, but strong of arm and stout of heart, installed herself as Mrs. Hanley's nurse. When the fire broke out both women were asleep.

Mrs. Hanley was awakened by the smoke pouring into the room and by the scurrying of feet on the porch at the rear. She called to Mrs. Anderson, who was awake in an instant. The flames had not penetrated the room yet, but they had enveloped the porch and stairway at the rear. This was the only avenue of escape. Mrs. Anderson wrapped the invalid in the bedclothes and seizing her in her arms carried her through the smoke and flames to a place of safety. They were given shelter by Mrs. Woodcock at 3115 North Eleventh street.

Mrs. Hahn and two children occupied quarters adjoining upstairs. Friday Mrs. Hahn and her children went out in the Cote Brilliante district to visit. They were not at home when fire destroyed their belongings. Everything was lost and there was no insurance.

The two apartments downstairs were occupied by Simon Gray and family and Charles Gray and family. Most of their furniture was destroyed. The house was owned by B. Nugent. The damage will aggregate about $1500.

DIED OF HEART DISEASE.

Mrs. Louisa Classing Was Stricken Early Saturday Morning.

Mrs. Louisa Classing, 55 years old, wife of William Classing, was found unconscious in a wooden trough partially filled with water at the rear of her residence, 6334 North Broadway at 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

She was rescued by her son and a physician was called. She died at 8:30 o'clock without having regained consciousness. Dr. H. A. Egan, of 6122 North Broadway, who was called, said that Mrs. Classing's death was due from heart failure.

The Classings conduct a dairy at the number mentioned. Mrs. Classing is supposed to have arisen to attend to her morning work. While standing over the trough she was seized with an attack of heart disease and fell. This trough is five feet long, four feet wide and two feet deep. It contained 18 inches of water.

WEB-FOOTED RABBIT SKIN.

Judge Caldwell Receives a Unique Present From Colorado.

Judge Henry C. Caldwell of the United States Court of Appeals received a unique present Saturday morning from Clarence F. Butler of Creede, Colo., near which place the judge and his family have their summer home.

The present is the skin of a snow-shoed, or web-footed rabbit. The skin is perfectly white and the feet are covered with a brush-like covering of hair.

The snow shoed rabbits live only in the mountains and seldom descend to the haunts of men. Judge Caldwell values the gift highly.

CALLAHAN'S ALIBI

WITNESSES SAY HE WAS AT HOME ON KIDNAPING DAY.

NONE ARE QUITE CERTAIN

Little Girl Told of Visits of a Man Who Was Whispered to Be Pat Crowe.

OMAHA, Neb., April 27.—The state rested in the Callahan case last night and the defense put on its first witnesses this morning. As anticipated, an alibi was offered to show that the accused could have had no participation in the kidnaping of Eddie Cudahy.

Charles McDonald, a neighbor of Callahan, related a conversation he had had with the defendant on the afternoon of the kidnaping, Dec. 19. At the moment the abduction was taking place McDonald said he sat on the porch in company with Callahan at Mrs. Kelly's house, the defendant's boarding place.

McDonald said he and Callahan were together between the hours of 3:30 and 5 o'clock. On cross-examination McDonald said he remembered the date because it was the 20th birthday of his son. He admitted, however, that he had recently told two detectives that he was not quite sure whether it was Dec. 19 or on the day or second day following.

Mamie McDonald, the little daughter of the preceding witness, proved an unfortunate witness for the defense. She said she remembered a man named Johnson who often visited Callahan and had heard it whispered that he was the notorious Pat Crowe.

Frank Hensman, a paper carrier, testified to having seen Callahan daily at Mrs. Kelly's house as he made his rounds. He delivered his papers between 3:30 and 5 p. m., and had an impression that he saw Callahan at the house on Dec. 19. He felt some doubt, however, as to the exact date.

James Gillan, another carrier, remembered seeing Callahan spending his time in Henry Orff's saloon when he was supposed to be absent on his kidnaping mission. He also was not positive as to the date.

The star witness of the defense, Mrs. Kelly, sister to Callahan, will be put on the stand this afternoon.

She is expected to testify that Callahan spent the afternoon of the kidnaping at home.

FUNSTON WAS SURPRISED

Says He Did Not Hope That He Would Be Made a General in the Regular Army.

IOLA, Kan., April 27.—Brigadier-General Funston, writing to a fellow townsman under date of Feb. 26, a month before the capture of Aguinaldo, says he did not expect appointment in the regular army. He says:

"Under the operation of the law I must be mustered out of the service July 1, as that is the last day of the volunteer army and from that time all of the work will be turned over to the regulars. I was not disappointed that I was not given anything in the reorganization of the regular army, as I had no expectations. One so young as myself, who had never been connected with the regular army, could scarcely expect a brigadier-generalship in that body over many gallant old men who have been in the service, some of them forty years. I am heartily glad that the increase in the regular army has allowed adequate recognition after many years of waiting to some of the splendid officers who have been made brigadier-generals in the regular establishment during the past few weeks.

"My plans after my muster out are somewhat uncertain, though I have in view many good opportunities to do well by myself."

CITY HALL POLICE COURT

"I'm from Missouri. You'll have to show me."

On this time-honored phrase centered the case of George B. Erb, arraigned Saturday on a charge of attempted mashing.

The remark in which Erb announced himself a resident of Missouri was the only point on which the two sides in the case came anywhere near agreeing. Herbert Page, who was also a defendant, and a party of his friends testified that Erb said much more, which was of such a nature as to justify Page in striking him. Erb's witnesses, a half dozen boys each about 16 years old, supported his statement that he had said nothing to which Page or his women companions could object, and that Page had started the fight.

Policeman Henneberry, who arrested both men on a charge of disturbing the peace by fighting, took neutral ground and said he had walked upon the two men as they were engaged in an old-fashioned "go," and that each had drawn blood before he succeeded in separating them.

Judge Sidener, after a half hour's deliberation, said he believed Erb innocent of any purpose of "mashing," and discharged both men. Erb is a telegraph operator and lives at 2341 Hickory street. Page is a motorman and lives at 2239 Chouteau avenue.

Page, with his sister, Miss Abbie Page, his sister-in-law, Miss Ollie Thorne, and a friend, Lisk English, was passing the corner of Jefferson avenue and Caroline street Friday night when the trouble with Erb and his companions arose. All four told the same story about the language alleged to have been used by Erb, and all said he remarked: "I'm from Missouri; you'll have to show me." Then the battle commenced.

"I said, 'I'm from Missouri,' Erb told the court. "Then Page said, 'I'm from there, too.' Then the trouble commenced."

"It's no offense to say 'I'm from Missouri,'" said Judge Sidener. "The testimony does not satisfy me that he said anything more."

"I consider myself the plaintiff," Erb interposed.

"Just forget that," said the court. "I discharge both of you."

RESTRAINING ORDER ISSUED.

Lalance & Grosjean Labels Protected by United States Courts.

In the United States Circuit Court for the southern district of New York the Lalance & Grosjean Manufacturing Co. secured, on April 15, a preliminary injunction against the National Enameling and Stamping Co., restraining the defendant company from using labels, which, through their size, color, shape, spacing and lettering, may present a close resemblance to the labels of the Lalance & Grosjean Co.

The opinion of Judge Lacombe, in this case, said a change had been made in the defendant company's labels in 1900, and added:

"It is difficult to understand how any unprejudiced mind can contemplate these contrasted exhibits of labels and reach any other conclusion than that the change was made with the intention of suggesting complainant's label to the retail purchaser."

FOURTEEN BODIES RECOVERED.

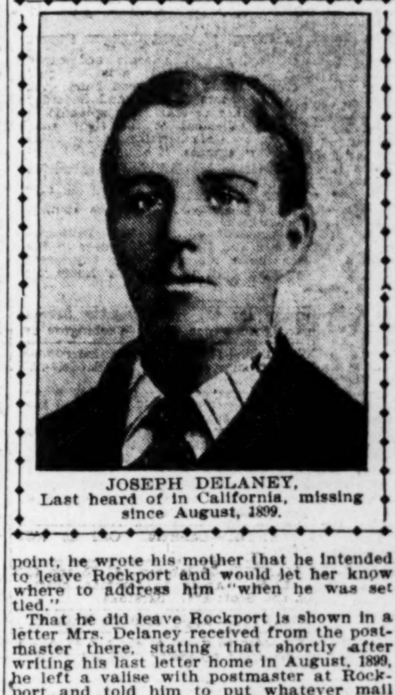
First Reports of Disaster at Griesheim Exaggerated.

FRANKFORT, April 27.—It is officially announced that up to 11 o'clock this morning fourteen bodies have been recovered from the ruins of the buildings destroyed by the explosion and fire at the electro chemical works near Griesheim, Thursday afternoon. Several persons are still missing.

JOSEPH DELANEY IS MISSING

His Mother, Mrs. M. Delaney of St. Louis, Has Not Heard From Him Since 1899.

Mrs. M. Delaney of 3539 Lawton avenue is desirous of ascertaining the whereabouts of her son, Joseph Delaney, whom she has not heard from since August, 1899. At that time he was working in a lumber camp at Rockport, Mendicine County, California. In his last letter from that point, he wrote his mother that he intended to leave Rockport and would let her know where to address him "when he was settled."



JOSEPH DELANEY,
Last heard of in California, missing since August, 1899.

That he did leave Rockport is shown in a letter Mrs. Delaney received from the postmaster there, stating that shortly after writing his last letter home in August, 1899, he left a valise with postmaster at Rockport and told him to put whatever mail came addressed to Joseph Delaney in that and hold it until he should send for the letters. They have never been sent for.

KLING SUES FOR ACCOUNTING

Petitions Court to Require George Kobusch to Report on Condition of Joint Stock.

Peter M. Kling filed suit Saturday against George J. Kobusch, asking an accounting and a judgment for $412,000.

The suit is over stock in the Central Traction Co. and the Kinloch Telephone Co., which, according to the petition, the plaintiff and the defendant have owned jointly since March 26, 1897. The value of the traction stock is estimated at $374,000 and that of the telephone stock at $450,000.

Kling avers that Kobusch, as trustee, had charge of both their interests. He alleges that he believes that Kobusch has sold all the stock and now has in his possession the proceeds of the sale.

He says he has asked several times for an accounting, but that his request has been refused. He avers he owns a one-half interest in the stock and in the proceeds of the alleged sale.

He asks that the court order Kobusch to make an itemized report of the stock which he held as trustees, its value, the date of its sale and the amount he received for it, and that a judgment be rendered in his favor for one-half the value of the stock, amounting to $412,000, and also for interest on that amount at 6 per cent. Mourton Jourdan is attorney for Kling.

INSPECTION OF FACTORIES.

Circular Letter Issued to Manufacturers by Inspector Clarke.

Factory Inspector Pat Clarke Saturday prepared a circular letter to proprietors of factories and mercantile establishments, notifying them that he and his deputy are about to commence their first tour of inspection, and informing them of the provisions of the factory inspection laws of the state and city.

Mr. Clarke and his deputy, Joseph Kolley, will begin their inspection of factories and mercantile houses next week. They are required to report through the police court all violations of the city factory ordinance. This law forbids child labor, making the age limit 14 years, and requires proper sanitary conditions to be observed.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

CAUSED BY AN IMPURE CONDITION OF THE BLOOD.

If Neglected They Will Grow Worse and Serious Results Will Follow—How Rheumatism Can Be Permanently Cured.

From the Mirror, Manchester, N. H.

Rheumatism is one of the most painful of the many troubles which afflict mankind. In its mildest form the aches and stiffness are enough to seriously distract the mind and interfere both with comfort and with work, and, as it grows worse—for it never will cure itself and it never stands still—it becomes more and more painful, the stiffness spreads and, frequently, the sufferer is reduced to a helpless condition—a physical wreck, tortured when still and unable to move without agony. It is a disease which cannot with safety be neglected.

But it can be cured if a proper course of treatment is taken. The real cause of rheumatism is the presence of acid in the blood, and the only cure is to purify, nourish and strengthen this vital fluid. If this is accomplished the pains and the stiffness will vanish and new life and vigor will come. The best specific yet discovered for this purpose is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and the number of cures they have effected in cases of this dreadful disease is wonderful. Mrs. S. D. Loveland of No. 133 West Hancock street, Manchester, N. H., was cured of a severe attack of rheumatism by the use of this remedy. She says:

"Several years ago one of my knees was injured by a fall. About the first of June, 1897, rheumatism set in and at last got so bad that I could not bend my knee. It was very painful and I was unable to move about. I tried various remedies, but not one of them relieved me in any way.

"In the latter part of August, nearly three months after the pain and stiffness began, a friend, Mrs. Rothwell of Everett, Mass., told me of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I willingly gave them a trial and experienced relief in a few days. I continued until I had taken three boxes and was able to bend the knee and go up and down stairs without difficulty. I have since taken the pills a number of times for other troubles and always with good results.

"I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People many times. I have not learned with what effect they were taken, excepting in the case of two of my relatives and a young woman living in my family, each of whom was greatly benefited. I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of the pills."

Signed, MRS. S. D. LOVELAND.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 27th day of February, 1901.

JOHN G. LANE,
[Seal] Notary Public.

All the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves are contained, in a condensed form, in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental strain, over-work or excesses of whatever nature. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

SALOON ON CITY PROPERTY

It Is on the Old City Hall Site and Patrick Hughes Is the Proprietor.

A saloon has been opened upon city property at 1133 Market street. Patrick Hughes is the proprietor, and the place, which has been open to customers since Monday, will have a formal "opening" a few nights hence.

The land on which the building containing the saloon stands is included in the old City Hall property, which extends from Eleventh street to the second alley west. Louis C. Bohle, United States marshal and proprietor of a livery stable on the Chestnut street front of the lot, is lessee of the ground between the old City Hall alley and the second alley.

Assistant Comptroller Gabel says that the city, while owning the lot, has but a limited control over its use. The building, he says, is owned by Mr. Bohle, who holds a ground lease from the city.

When the fitting up of the Hughes saloon first began it was reported that Delegate "Snake" Kinney of the Fourth ward was to make this spot the site of the "swell joint" which he had expressed his intention of opening. Those now in charge deny that Kinney is interested in the saloon, and the records of the excise commissioner's office show Hughes to be the holder of the license.

A FEW FACTS

About the New Catarrh Cure.

The new Catarrh Cure is a new departure in so-called catarrh cures because it actually cures, and is not simply a temporary relief.

The new Catarrh Cure is not a salve, ointment, powder nor liquid, but a pleasant-tasting tablet containing the best specifics for catarrh in a concentrated, convenient form.

The old style of catarrh salves and ointments are greasy, dirty and inconvenient at the best; the new preparation being in tablet form, is always clean and convenient.

The new Catarrh Cure is superior to Catarrh powders because it is a notorious fact that many catarrh powders contain cocaine.

The new Catarrh Cure is called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a wholesome combination of blood root, beechwood tar, guaiacol and other antiseptics, and cures by its action upon the blood and mucous membrane, the only rational treatment for catarrhal trouble.

You do not have to draw upon your imagination to discover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvement and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken.

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but 50 cents for full-sized packages, and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders will appreciate to the full

NEWS OF CITY CHURCHES

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIETY IS TO RAISE $100,000.

WILL AID NEW CHURCHES.

Rev. M. B. Gott of Union Mission Resigns and Will Join Another Denomination—New Rector of Holy Innocents' Church.

At a meeting of the Presbyterian Church Extension Society held Tuesday evening it was determined to raise $100,000 to assist in the building of churches for congregations who are unable to furnish suitable houses for worship without help. Several large subscriptions were made. Another meeting will be held on Saturday evening at the Washington and Compton Avenue Church.

Rev. M. B. Gott of the Union Mission tendered his resignation in a letter to the Methodist ministers at their meeting Monday, withdrawing from the Methodist Episcopal Church. He will join some other denomination.

Holy Innocents Episcopal Church has a new rector, Rev. Dr. H. E. Bowers of Bryan, Tex., having accepted the call. He will enter upon his duties at once.

The next meeting of the Evangelical Alliance will be held at Odd Fellows' Hall Monday, April 29, at 10:30 a. m.

Rev. Frank G. Tyrrell of Mount Cabanne Church has finished his course of lectures, which proved so popular that he will add another address on May 7, the subject to be announced later.

Rev. James N. Crutcher of Paris, Tex., has been called to the pastorship of Compton Heights Christian Church. It is believed that he will accept.

Rev. Dr. R. M. Johnston will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday and will leave for his new field the early part of the week.

Plans for Presbyterian specific church extension will be laid before a mass meeting Sunday evening at the Washington and Compton Avenue Church. The meeting will be addressed by Rev. Dr. Dickey, moderator of the general assembly.

Rev. H. M. Campbell of the Cote Brilliante Presbyterian Church and Dr. J. M. Spencer of the People's Church have resigned their respective charges. They have both been in St. Louis for several years.

At a meeting of the St. Louis Sunday School Union held Monday evening Rev. R. L. Gurney was chosen as general secretary. He is at present at Colgate University, but will complete his course in June and enter upon his duties here July 1. The Sunday school officers and teachers will hold a special meeting on the evening of May 6, when Mr. W. H. McClain will deliver his lecture on the Oberammergau Passion Play.

The annual meeting of the elders and trustees of the Curby Memorial Presbyterian Church was recently held and an election took place, at which several new officers were chosen. The women of this church instead of holding fairs and bazars for the purpose of raising money, have formed a "calendar," one woman being the year, 12 representing the months, 52 the weeks and 365 the days, each guaranteeing a small sum for the period represented.

Messrs. E. C. Elliot, Isaac A. Hedges and Fritz Nisbet compose the committee to represent the Church of the Messiah in arranging to receive the western conference May 14, 15 and 16. A committee of ladies, with Mrs. Baylé as chairman, will co-operate with a similar committee from the Unity Church in providing hospitality.

On the first day, May 14, sessions of the Ministers' Institute will be held in Unity Church, and in the evening a sermon will be preached in the Church of the Messiah by S. A. Elliot, who is president of the American Unitarian Association. The Woman's Alliance and the Western S. S. Society will provide programs for the afternoon sessions.

The Unity Club meets for the last time on May 12. They will take for their subject "King Henry V," reading from scene 3, act 4, to end of play, after which discussion will follow.

Feeds the Hair

Have you ever thought why your hair is falling out? It is because you are starving your hair. If this starvation continues, your hair will continue to fall.

There is one good hair food. It is Ayer's Hair Vigor. It goes right to the roots of the hair and gives them just the food they need. The hair stops falling, becomes healthy, and grows thick and long.

Ayer's Hair Vigor does another thing, also: it always restores color to faded or gray hair.

One dollar a bottle.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us $1.00 and we will express a bottle to you, all charges prepaid. Be sure and give us your nearest express office.

FAIRBANK'S
GOLD DUST
Washing Powder

Mistress and Maid unite in upholding GOLD DUST Washing Powder as their best help in house work.

Dear Mrs. ____________

(If you don't use "GOLD DUST"—fill in your name.)

We want to know why YOU don't use GOLD DUST.

We are going to ask you if you love work for work's sake and whether a servant, as capable as GOLD DUST, which will take half the work from your shoulders, to its own—and who would work without pay—wouldn't be a great addition to your household?

Most respectfully,

THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY,

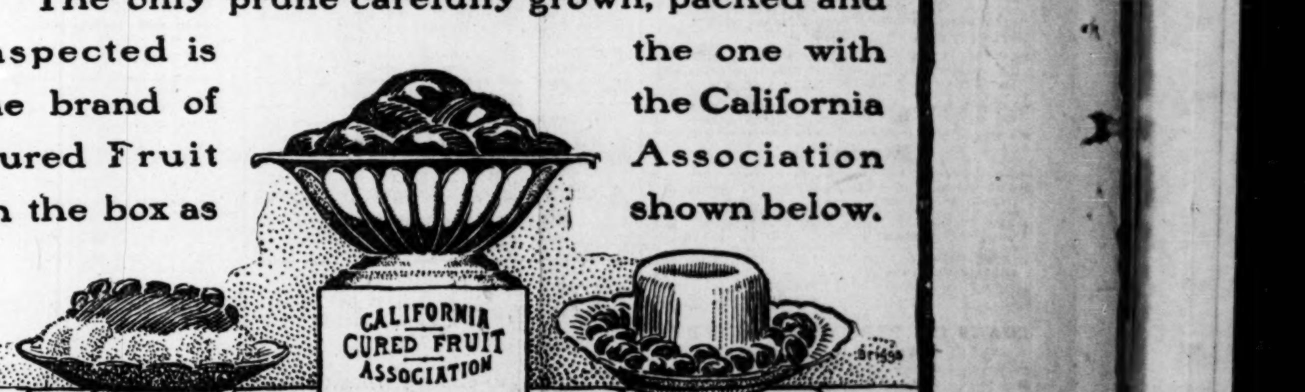
Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, New York, Montreal, St. Louis.

P. S.—We make Fairy Soap, too.

Delight founded on the California Prune

The "versatility" of the California Prune is limitless—its deliciousness never-failing. Prune dishes fit for a King are made for breakfast, luncheon, dinner or supper. As substantial diet, dessert or confection, California Prune dishes are unsurpassed; all easily prepared.

The only prune carefully grown, packed and inspected is the brand of Cured Fruit on the box as the one with the California Association shown below.



PRUNE PUDDING—Try this receipt for "Prune Pudding," which won a prize in California Prize Prune Cooking Contest a few weeks ago: "One cup butter, 2 cups sugar 2 cups sour milk, 3 eggs, 4 cups pitted prunes 2 teaspoons soda 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1 teaspoon cloves 1 teaspoon allspice, 5 cups flour. Serve with whipped cream.

The Association issues a book containing 100 receipts for preparing prunes in every way, which were obtained by a prize contest participated in by the very best cooks and chefs of California. This book together with a "Prune Primer" which will delight the little folks, will be sent free on request. Address CALIFORNIA CURED FRUIT ASSOCIATION, SAN JOSE, CAL.
